GEN. GRANT'S ARMY.

BRILLIANT UNION SUCCESS

Gen. Lee Assumes the Offensive and is Signally Defeated.

Fort Steadman Temporarily Occupied by the Rebels.

The Fort Recaptured by a Gallant Charge.

IMMENSE LOSSES OF THE ENEMY.

Three Thousand Killed and Wounded and Nearly the Same Number Captured.

Our Lines Re-established and Everything Quiet.

[The following official dispatches appeared in our edition of yesterday.]

[OFFICIAL.]

WASHINGTON, March 25—7 P. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

This morning at 4:30 o'clock, the enemy, by a strong and sudden assault captured Fort Steadman, but after a vigorous contest the fort was recaptured with 1,600 prisoners, two flags, and all the guns uninjured.

Gen. McLaughlin was taken prisoner by the rebels, who also assaulted Fort Haskell, but were repulsed with great loss.

The official report is subjoined.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

CITY POINT, Va.—1:30 P. M., March 25, 1865.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The following dispatch of Gen. Parke is received from Gen. Meade.

U. S. GRANT,
Lieut.-General.

The enemy attacked my front this morning, at about 4:30 o'clock, with three divisions, under command of Gen. Gordon.

By a sudden rush they seized the line held by the Third Brigade, First Division, at the foot of the hill to the right of Fort Steadman, wheeled and overpowering the garrison, took possession of the fort.

They established themselves upon the hill, turning our guns upon us.

Our troops on either flank stood firm.

Afterward a determined attack was made upon Fort Haskell, which was checked by part of McLaughlin's brigade, Wilcox's division, and was repulsed with great loss to the enemy.

The First Brigade of Hartsuff's division, held in reserve, was brought up, and a check given to any further advance.

One or two attempts were made to retake the hill, and were only temporarily successful, until the arrival of the Second Brigade, when a charge was made by that brigade, aided by the troops of the First Division on either flank, and the enemy were driven out of the fort, with the loss of a number of prisoners, estimated at about 1,600. Two battle-flags have also been brought in.

The enemy also lost heavily in killed outside of our lines.

The whole line was immediately reoccupied, and the guns retaken uninjured.

I regret to add that Gen. McLaughlin was captured in Fort Steadman.

Our loss otherwise was not heavy.

Great praise is due to Hartsuff for the gallantry displayed in handling his division, which behaved with great skill in this its first engagement.

(Signed,) JOHN G. PARKE, Major-General.

SECOND DISPATCH.

WAR DEPARTMENT, March 25—9:30 P. M.

To Maj.-Gen. Dix:

Later reports from Gen. Grant, which are subjoined, show that the operations of our forces this morning were brilliantly successful. The rebel prisoners already secured number two thousand seven hundred. The rebel killed and wounded Gen. Grant estimates at probably not less than three thousand. Our loss is estimated at eight hundred; may prove less.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

CITY POINT, Va., March 25—8 A. M.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The number of prisoners received by the Provost-Marshal is twenty-two hundred, taken by the Ninth Corps, and five hundred by the Second Corps. There may be still some more to be brought in.

U. S. GRANT.

CITY POINT, March 25—7:30 P. M.

Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

I am not yet able to give the result of the day accurately, but the number of prisoners captured proves larger than at first reported. The slaughter of the enemy at the point where they entered our lines and in front of it was probably not less than three thousand. Our loss is estimated at eight hundred, and may prove less.

Gen. Humphreys attacked on the left with great promptness, capturing near one hundred men, and causing the enemy to return his troops to that part of his line rapidly.

Signed, U. S. GRANT,
Lieutenant-General.

OUR ARMY BULLETIN.

Details of the Attack—Sudden and Furious Onslaught—The Enemy Gallantly Repulsed, and the Lines Restored.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY POTOMAC,
Saturday, March 25, 1865—7 A. M.

At 4:30 o'clock this morning the enemy made a determined and energetic attack upon our right, near the Appomattox River, opening with a furious and prolonged bombardment of our whole line in front of Petersburgh, and by a powerful and sudden advance of their infantry, they succeeded in gaining possession of Fort Steadman. The whole of the Ninth Corps were almost instantly under arms; and Gen. Wilcox' division of that command speedily formed, and commenced a counter attack.

The cannonading at this moment was terrific. Soon after, the guns in the forts on the right and left of the captured fort opened with a very rapid fire, and several field batteries were also in position, playing with fierce energy upon the advancing columns.

Gen. Wilcox immediately pushed his command forward, and at the moment at which I write the engagement is progressing with great fury. The awful roar of seige guns only for a moment relaxes its volume, when it recommences with almost redoubled vigor. Now and then, between intervals of heavy firing, the ear can distinguish the hoarse rattle of musketry, as the infantry become engaged. I think it is quite certain that for some time the enemy had possession of Fort Steadman, and about 200 rods of our main line of breastworks.

The Sixth Corps are now under arms, and I doubt not the left wing of the army is also in a state of perfect readiness for any fresh demonstrations of the enemy.

Some expect a general attack on our whole line will be the result of this foolhardy attempt of the enemy to permanently break through our lines; but I consider our line too strong for the rebels to gain any tenable hold of any part of our extensive cordon of siege works.

The battle that is now progressing within five miles of these headquarters is evidently of the most determined character, and may result in very important movements before the day closes.

The mail train is just leaving for City Point, and I am unable to give you anything more than this very brief outline of the attack made this morning. I shall ride over as soon as this leaves my hands, and if possible reach the Point on horseback in time to give you the very latest news from the scene of engagement.

GEO. F. WILLIAMS.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Total Failure of the Attack—All the Works and Every Gun Retaken.

CITY POINT, Va., Saturday March 25—10 A. M.

I have just reached this place in time to send you the very latest and most reliable intelligence from the battle-field. The attack, although for a time partially successful, has totally failed. We have retaken all of our works and every gun. Although the enemy endeavored, by the most determined resistance, to maintain their hold on the fort, our batteries succeeded, by their enfilading fire, and by the brave and resistless onslaught of our infantry, in driving the rebels from their prize. You may rely upon this as reliable. I saw our advance line of infantry enter our old works as I rode away. The cannonading continued very heavy for some time after I left the field, but it almost entirely ceased before I reached the outskirts of City Point.

No alarm need be felt regarding the safety of our lines, for the Ninth Corps have established their front line without any assistance from any of the other corps.

There is no use speculating in regard to any ultimate result arising out of this aggressive movement on the part of Gen. Lee, for no one can tell what may come out of it.

GEO. F. WILLIAMS.

FROM CITY POINT.

Arrival of the President—Continued Influx of Rebel Deserters—Great Numbers of Refugees.

CITY POINT, Va.,
Saturday, March 25, 1865—9 A. M.

Considerable excitement was created here this morning, the cause of which will be told you by one of our correspondents from the front just come in haste with his despatches. His Excellency President Lincoln arrived here last night, in the steamer River Queen, with Mrs. Lincoln. It was intended to have a grand review to-day, that of the cavalry corps having been again postponed yesterday, but from present appearances our men are likely, during the day, to have more serious work on hand in keeping watch on the enemy, although the cause of temporary alarm appears to have been already removed, and the rebels driven back; still any moment may now precipitate us into active operations, for the enemy must now do something or never, and our forces are on the alert to meet them at all quarters.

Deserters still come in at the rate of over one hundred per day; and refugees of the first class are fast leaving the sinking ship. Several hundred dollars are daily paid to deserters, at the Ordnance Department, for arms and accoutrements that they bring. The muskets they bring in are mostly Enfields, of English manufacture, and in excellent condition.

Capt. H. B. Blood, recently promoted to the Chief Quartermastership of the Twenty-fifth Corps, proceeds to-day to take his position.

Twelve—All quiet up to the present hour, the enemy having been entirely repulsed and the guns retaken with a number of prisoners, and our lines held unbroken.

OUR CHARLESTON CORRESPONDENCE

Military Affairs in Charleston—Escape from the Rebel Army of a Conscripted Union Man—What He Says of the Interior—Interesting Miscellaneous News.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Monday, March 20, 1865.

I suppose we may take it for granted, that in this section of the country the fighting is almost ended. From this remark I do not wish it to be inferred that we are unprepared for further fighting. Should events require the troops to act on the defensive, or to take up the offensive, they are ready for such an emergency. According to statements brought in by parties traveling from the interior of the State, the rebel forces have all fallen back into North Carolina, leaving South Carolina to be taken care of by the citizens. Gen. Potter, who holds the advance of the Union lines, is located at a point near the Santee River. Everything is quiet on his front. The intelligence that we receive from the different districts in the department, indicates no disturbances, no excitements, no important movements. A few days ago a number of Wheeler's cavalry was reported to be in the vicinity of Charleston; but a force of mounted men, sent out to hunt them up, returned with the report that the whole affair was a false alarm. Rest assured that Gen. Hatch will keep a sharp look-out for any raiders or marauders who may take a notion to reconnoitre about these parts.

The people of Georgetown have entered complaints against a party of colored men who, as they state, have done nothing for the past week but pillage, burn and destroy, to the utmost terror of the inhabitants. Admiral Dahlgren has taken the matter in hand by sending a guard of marines to maintain order in the town. The statements which citizens of different sections make relative to their being annoyed and molested by their colored neighbors are to be taken with considerable allowance. The old relations existing between master and slave, although extinct in practice, are by no means discarded in theory, among a great many of the white population; consequently any trifling familiarity indulged by the negroes is construed into a heinous crime, and as such immediately reported to headquarters. We consider here that under the circumstances the negroes have behaved remarkably well. They, of course, are aware of their release from bondage, but it cannot be said of them that they take undue advantage of their new condition. They do not allow themselves to be beaten and kicked about in the manner they were before we took possession of the country, and because they resist attempts made in that direction, a few irritable rebels complain of having their lives threatened. The city itself is guarded, for the most part, by white troops. Perfect order reigns throughout the entire limits.

Mr. M. D. Parker, an escaped conscript from the rebel ranks, recently arrived within our lines. He gives a very interesting account of his own experience, and of what transpired in that portion of rebeldom through which he passed. Mr. Parker is an old resident of this city, and, at the breaking out of the war, had an interest in the Charleston Hotel. He has always expressed himself strongly in favor of the Union, and, although hunted down by rebel emissaries and spies, he succeeded in eluding their grasp, until an accident led to the discovery of a correspondence between himself and another Union man living in the interior. This resulted in his arrest and imprisonment. He was kept in Charleston jail for several months, and a portion of the time was placed in solitary confinement. A few days before the evacuation of Charleston, the authorities ordered him to be conscripted, and sent to Columbia, to the camp of instruction. The officers at Columbia were informed by note of Parker's hostility to the rebel cause, and continued to keep a strict watch over his movements. Previous to his removal, Mr. Parker had openly declared he would not serve in the rebel army in any capacity, and had, furthermore, given the guards and others to understand that it was his determination to escape, as soon as a favorable opportunity presented itself. This plain talk by no means pleased the rebel authorities, and they did not hesitate to inflict upon him all manner of insults and abuses. On his arrival at Columbia, the commandant at that place very graciously allowed him the privilege of selecting the branch of service to which he would be assigned. He refused to take up arms in any branch. This resolution exasperated the officers in charge of the camp, and at one time affairs looked as if he would be visited with violent treatment. While deciding what to do, their deliberations were suddenly interrupted with the announcement that Sherman was marching on the town. They immediately made preparations to evacuate, and, in order to make sure of Parker, sent him, in company with twenty other conscripts, in advance of the main column. Beauregard was in command at Columbia, and it was his intention to unite his force, with that of Hardee's, in North Carolina. While proceeding in that direction, Mr. Parker passed through several towns, including Spartanburgh, York, Chester, Camden, S. C., and Shelby, N. C. In each of these places the people were despondent and discouraged.

One of the most solemn and imposing events which has been witnessed in the city since its occupation by the Union forces, was the ceremonial attending the reinterment of the remains of Lieut. Charles H. Bradford, of the United States Marine Corps, on the 16th instant. To acquaint the public with the circumstances which led to the reinterment, I will state that during the attack on Fort Sumter on the 7th of September, 1863, Lieut. Bradford fell into the hands of the rebels a prisoner and severely wounded. After keeping him in Sumter a few days, the rebel authorities had him removed to one of the vile hospitals of this city. While in this hospital, he was frequently visited, at his own request, by Dr. A. G. Mackey, whose Union proclivities are well-known throughout the country. Dr. Mackey, with his usual kindness, did all that he possibly could do to alleviate the sufferings of the gallant soldier; and when at last, on the 23d of September, he ceased to live, his faithful friend had the body laid in the Masonic burial ground at the Magnolia Cemetery. Some violent Secessionists, or rather fiends, happening to learn of the circumstance of the burial, became wild with rage, and took measures to intimidate Dr. Mackey into having the body disinterred and conveyed to Potter's Field. There it remained until the time at which the ceremonies of the 16th took place.

At nine o'clock on Thursday morning the body was disinterred and taken to St. Paul's Church, under an escort of a detachment of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth New-York Regiment. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John Blake, United States Naval Chaplain to the United States steamer New-Hampshire, who observed the burial service of the Episcopal Church. After the singing of the 125th Hymn, Chaplain Blake delivered an impressive discourse which was listened to by a large congregation of officers and men from the army and navy. At the conclusion of the service the body was removed to the hearse.

Among others who followed the remains to the grave were Admiral Dahlgren, Lieut.-Commander Bradford, Chief of Admiral Dahlgren's Staff; Lieut.-Commander Mathews, Col. Woodford, Commandant of Post; Gen. Hatch and Staff, Capt. Fillebrown, United States steamer Sonora; Capt. Dana, United States steamer Wynoma; Capt. Montell, United States steamer Potomska; Capt. Barrett, monitor Catskill; Capt. Lewis, monitor Nantucket; Capt. Dyer, United States steamer Home; Capt. Phinney, Capt. Redding, Paymaster Watmough, Fleet Judge-Advocate Charles Cowley, and a large number of army and navy officers and citizens. Several ladies were also in the procession, carriages having been set aside for their use. At the grave, the concluding part of the burial service was read by the chaplain, after which a file of marines, commanded by Ensign Dickman, fired three volleys over the remains, and the mournful ceremonies were ended.

Since the appointment by Brig.-Gen. Hatch of a city inspector and four assistant inspectors, the appearance of the city is rapidly improving. Many of the sidewalks which were rendered almost impassible on account of the huge piles of brick and debris which covered them at intervals have been cleared and relaid. The streets, too, at the lower end of the city have been cleaned and swept, and innumerable large cavities, occasioned by the shelling and other causes, filled up. The work of repairing Broad-street will be speedily commenced, measures having been taken to transfer the cobble-stones from Fort Ripley to the city for that purpose. These stones were taken from the street to form a portion of the fort. Owners of buildings have taken the matter in hand of repairing damages, and we confidently believe that by next Fall the city of Charleston will be full of business life. Citizens, old residents of the place, are coming into the city with their families every day. The stores on each side of King-street, for a long distance, are open, and apparently doing a lively trade. Some timid persons have expressed a fear that we shall be visited by the yellow fever during the coming hot season, but the authorities have acted so promptly to prevent its approach, that the chances of its non-appearance are greatly in our favor.

The work of administering the oath of allegiance is progressing with an astonishing degree of rapidity. At first there was but one office open for the accommodation of applicants, but they presented themselves in such large numbers that it was deemed indispensable by the authorities to open four additional offices in different parts of the city. The forms of administering the oath are such that it requires about five minutes to make out the documents for each person. Among the applicants are a large number of ladies. I will not pretend to say that each person who takes the oath is sincere in his professions of loyalty to the United States, because a military order has been issued refusing favors of every kind to parties who have not renounced their sympathy with the rebellion and taken the oath of allegiance to the Union Government. They can not even take a letter from the post office, and what is more, the clerks refuse to look for a letter for them, unless they can produce the document establishing their loyalty. I believe that the majority of the people who take the oath do so on sound Union principles. In passing through the city to-day we see displayed from roofs and windows little flags as an evidence of the sentiments of the occupants. On King-street, the merchants have conspicuously displayed in their windows their permits for trade, also the oaths of allegiance with their names attached.

On Friday of last week, while the U. S. survey steamer Bib, Capt. Chas. O. Boutelle, commanding, was making a reconnoissance in the ship channel of Charleston harbor, she struck a torpedo off Battery Bee, on Sullivan Island, which exploded under her port bow, but without causing any serious damage. No one on board was injured. One of the engines was slightly injured, but it can be easily repaired. Capt. Boutelle has issued instructions to sailing-masters to keep in as near Sullivan's Island as the depth of water will allow when passing the space between Fort Moultrie and Battery Bee. Other torpedoes are believed to be in the vicinity; in fact I am informed by Judge-Advocate of the Fleet, Cowley, that the harbor is impregnated with them. A number have already been taken up. An army officer while searching for torpedoes on land the other day, discovered in a building near the Ashley River, twenty-two of these machines, some ready for sinking, and others in an incomplete state. Just before the evacuation of the city, sixteen torpedoes were placed in the harbor, and the man who had the superintendence of the work, is now engaged fishing them out, receiving $10 for each one he finds.

THE OCCUPATION OF GOLDSBORO.

Official Announcement by Gen. Schofield.

The Enemy Make Very Little Opposition.

Sherman's Army Within a Short Distance.

The Junction of the Two Armies Probably Effected.

[The following official dispatch appeared in our edition of yesterday.]

[OFFICIAL.]

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON,
March 25—10 P. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

The following dispatch from Gen. Schofield reports his arrival at, and occupation of Goldsboro, on Tuesday, March 21, with but slight opposition.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., March 21, 1865, VIA
FORTRESS MONROE, Va., March 25, 1865—7 P. M.

Lieut.-Gen. U. S. Grant, City Point, Va.:

I have the honor to report that I occupied Goldsboro this P. M., with but slight opposition.

Gen. Terry's column from Wilmington was at Faison's Depot last night, and should be near this place to-night.

Sherman's left was engaged with the enemy near Bentonville on Sunday.

The artillery firing was quite rapid during the day, and for a short time on Monday morning.

Sherman's right, the Seventeenth Corps, was near Mount Olive on Sunday night.

There has been some artillery firing to-day, which indicates a gradual approach of Sherman's army toward this place.

All this being strictly in accordance with Sherman's plans, I have no doubt all is well.

I hope to have more definite and later intelligence from Sherman very soon, and will forward it to you without delay.

I find the bridges burned, but otherwise the road is not injured, and the depot facilities are very fine.

I captured here seven cars, and Gen. Terry has captured two locomotives and two cars, which he is now using.

JOHN M. SCHOFIELD, Major-General.

Other Reports of Gen. Sherman's Movements—Newbern and Wilmington as Ports of Entry.

FORTRESS MONROE, Saturday, March 25.
Via BALTIMORE, Sunday, March 26.

The following advices from Newbern have just reached here via the Albermarle Canal:

Gen. Schofield's forces, which moved out from Kinston triumphantly, entered Goldsboro on Tuesday evening, 21st inst., meeting very little resistance, and captured a large amount of property including forty railroad cars, two locomotives, guns, &c.

A portion of Gen. Sherman's forces which moved from Fayetteville, met the enemy on the same day (21st) at Mount Olive, where quite an engagement ensued. The enemy being overpowered and flanked, retreated in confusion toward Raleigh, while Sherman entered Smithfield, half way between Goldsboro and Raleigh.

Gens. Sherman, Schofield and Terry are in hourly communication with each other, and are pressing the enemy closely.

The prisoners taken admit that they are unable to successfully resist this combination, and that Raleigh must certainly fall.

Gen. Sherman's wagon trains have arrived at Kinston.

The railroads and bridges will be repaired so that cars will run through to Goldsboro and Raleigh from Newbern, in a few days.

The utmost enthusiasm prevails in our army, and our troops are sweeping all before them in the shape of an enemy.

Gen. Terry's forces also captured a number of cars at Farsan's depot, near Goldsboro.

Many prisoners have been captured, and numerous deserters are coming in.

NEWBERN, N. C., Tuesday, March 21.

Since the advance of Gen. Schofield's army from Kinston, yesterday, mentioned in the Newbern Times this morning, we have no additional news of importance. Parties from the front say that cannonading was distinctly heard all day Sunday at Kinston, which indicated an engagement at Goldsboro between Sherman and the enemy. This is not credited at headquarters, where we are informed that Sherman could not have reached Goldsboro by that time.

The report received at headquarters that a brigade of the enemy, with their artillery, were on that day endeavoring to cut their way through to our lines and deliver themselves up, may be true, and this cannonading may be the conflict going on among themselves. Although they will not inform us at headquarters where Gen. Sherman is, for obvious reasons still it is announced that he is all right, and that great quantities of supplies have gone forward to him.

A rebel officer says that Gen. Sherman is executing a two-fold movement, either of which will bring forth results of great importance if he is successful, of which he says there is not much doubt.

Col. J. T. Conklin, Chief Quartermaster of Sherman's right wing, arrived here a few days ago, and has been actively engaged in forwarding supplies to Sherman.

All the avenues for carrying supplies to Newbern have been taken possession of for the benefit of the public service. This increases the great necessity of reopening the port of Newbern, which the authorities here all favor. A population of over 200,000 depend on this city for their daily supplies, all of whom in a short time must be fed by the Government, if this port is not immediately opened, which will seriously embarrass the movements of our armies. The 30,000 refugees which Gen. Sherman has sent to Wilmington, and the great numbers arriving here from all quarters, make it a military necessity to reopen at once both Wilmington and Newbern as ports of entry.

An order from Gen. Schofield, dated the 18th inst., says that all officers now in this city belonging to the command of Maj. Gen. Sherman, will proceed at once, by rail, to Kinston, and report in person for orders to the commanding General's head-quarters in the field.

Outsiders are of the general belief that Sherman is at Goldsboro, but of course it is all speculation with them.

Arrival of the America—Interesting Debate in the British House of Commons—The Birmingham Failure—Funeral of the Duke de Morny—Miscellaneous Intelligence.

The steamship Lafayette arrived from New-York at Havre on Monday, March 13, at 6 P. M.

The falling due of the March dividend on Federal bonds in Europe will be likely to absorb the amount of bills on London in the New-York market, and to prevent the transmission of any material sum of specie from this side. Unless the recent cotton captures should prove larger than is supposed, there will be a probability of an early renewal of gold remittances from New-York.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

MONDAY, March 13.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said he proposed to make his financial statement on Monday, April 27.

On the order for going into a Committee of Supply, Mr. Fitzgerald called attention to the report of Col. Jervois, with reference to the defences of Canada, and asked for information. After clearing himself from false imputations in taking this course, and disclaiming any intention to attribute to the Federal Government or to the people generally a spirit of hostility toward England, he suggested certain possible contingencies which might lead to hostilities between England and the United States, and against which we should not shut our eyes, nor disregard a certain proposal made during the recent conference between the Confederate agents and the Federal authorities. Under these circumstances it was of importance to look to the defence of Canada, upon which in the event of war, the first blow would fall; and as no one would advise that the colony should be left to defend itself, he proceeded to consider what were its means of defence, and what it should be our duty to contribute toward its defences. He asked what steps had been taken to carry out Col. Jervois' proposals, and to augment the defensive resources of Canada. He compared the activity of the Americans in fortifying all their vulnerable points with the apathy manifested by us in altogether neglecting the defences of our most vulnerable point, Canada. He thought we ought to come to an immediate understanding with Canada as to the proportion this country should bear of the cost of its means of defence. Mr. Forster said that the real question was whether there was sufficient reason for increasing Canada's means of defence at all. He believed that the fears of hostilities on the part of the United States were unreasonable and utterly groundless. He protested against rushing into an enormous expense for the defence of Canada.

Mr. Cardwell said he could assure the House, without reserve, that our relations with the United States continued to be perfectly friendly. Those who went to war with Canada went to war with England. The Government were prepared to do their part in the defence of Canada.

Mr. Disraeli avowed his opinion that we were in no immediate danger of coming into collision with America, because he believed the Americans were a sagacious people and were not likely to engage in another struggle with a foreign Power. He thought Canada should be put into a proper state of defence.

Mr. Lowe said the question was, what should be done if Canada was the battle-field in case of war. The most effectual course in such an event would be to concentrate a force upon some other point. His conclusion, therefore, was that it would be unwise to retain any force worth speaking of in Canada. We had better let Canada know the truth, and not buoy her up with false expectations, while we provoked America with a standing menace. The wisest course would be to withdraw our troops at once.

Mr. Watkin observed that the way to prevent war with America was not to talk of abandoning Canada, but to declare that it was a part of the British empire, and that we were prepared to defend it.

Lord Elcho thought that the course Mr. Lowe had suggested was a practical and sensible one.

Mr. Ayrton thought the best way to protect Canada was to preserve proper relations with the United States, instead of which, causes of irritation had arisen.

Mr. Bright said the question was at once important and delicate. It was perfectly well known that there was no power whatever in the United Kingdom to defend successfully Canada against America. What, he said, would the people of England have said if they had suffered as the Americans have suffered from the Alabama? He believed there was a war party in America—the Irish party, but this was the only war party. The root of all these unfortunate circumstances was a feeling of jealously entertained in England toward the American nation, a feeling which would not overthrow the decrees of nature.

Lord Palmerston said: However long this discussion may have been, I, for one, cannot regret that it has taken place; for by the majority of members in this House two opinions have been expressed which cannot fail to be useful in the quarters to which they relate. The first opinion is that which has been peculiarly dwelt upon by the honorable member who has just set down—namely, an earnest desire that the most friendly relations should be maintained between Great Britain and the United States of America; and next, the opinion that we should maintain the connexion which exists between this country and our provinces on the North American continent so long as the people of those provinces are desirous of maintaining their connection with the mother country. The honorable member who has just spoken has made what in one respect may appear a paradoxical, but what, I think, as human nature is constituted, was a very conciliatory speech toward the United States. Though he reviewed a long course of events to prove that the United States have been most grievously ill-treated by this country—I don't agree with him in any one of these points—it is no doubt a part of human nature that you cannot please any man or any set of men better than by telling them they have been exceedingly ill-used. The honorable gentleman says there exists in this country a jealousy of the United States. Sir, I utterly deny that assertion. We feel no jealousy of the United States. On the contrary, I am sure that every Englishman must feel proud at seeing upon the other side of the Atlantic a community sprung from the same ancestry as ourselves, rising in the scale of civilization, and attaining every degree of prosperity—aye, and of power, as well as wealth. I therefore entirely deny that there has been in this country any feeling of jealousy as regards the United States. I cannot agree with my right honorable friend (Mr. Lowe) in thinking that whatever are the difficulties—and difficulties undoubtedly there may be—in successfully resisting an attack, if it should be made by America, we should regard the defence of Canada as an undertaking which we could not succeed in accomplishing. I think, on the contrary, that Canada may be defended, and I also feel that the honor of England and the good faith which is due to our loyal fellow-countrymen in these Northern Provinces require that, at all events, we should make the attempt successfully to defend her. Not concurring, therefore, in the argument of my right honorable friend that Canada cannot be defended, least of all do I concur in his conclusion that, assuming defence to be impossible, we ought forthwith to withdraw our troops. I neither admit the argument nor assent to its conclusion; and I am anxious that there should be no mistake on the subject, and that it may be fully understood that it is not the intention of the Government to follow the advice of my right honorable friend and withdraw our troops from Canada. On the contrary, I feel that the honor of England demands, and that our duty as a Government binds us to do everything—moreover, that we shall have the sanction of the British nation in doing everything—that we can to defend our fellow-countrymen in Canada. As I have already said, I am persuaded that the tone of moderation which has prevailed in this debate must be useful both in Canada and in the United States. No doubt there are those who have endeavored to persuade the people of the United States that there exists in this country a spirit of hostility toward them, and that we are looking out for grounds of quarrel. There can, however, be no real and just grounds for quarrel between us. We certainly shall not seek such grounds, nor shall we invent them; and if the speech of the honorable gentleman who has just sat down, be a true and faithful exposition of the sentiments of the people of the United States, there can be no well-founded apprehension that the peace happily prevailing between us is in danger of interruption. I can confirm the statement of my right honorable friend, that the present relations between the two Governments are perfectly friendly and satisfactory. We have no complaint to make of the Government of the United States; they have acted in a fair and honorable manner in all the matters that may have arisen between us. No doubt there are claims which they have put forward, not urging them at present, but laying the ground for their discussion at some future time. No doubt, also, we have claims upon them which we do not put forward at present, but have announced to be claims which at some future time may be discussed. But I should trust that we both feel it to be for the interest—aye, and for the honor of the two countries, that peace should be preserved, and that matters of this sort ought to be capable of a friendly and amicable adjustment. All I can say is that the Government, as long as they continue to be chargeable with the conduct of affairs, will do everything that the honor and interests of the country permit them to do to maintain inviolate the relations of peace and friendship between the two countries.

THE BIRMINGHAM FAILURE.

The Times says: "The Birmingham Bank failure, although it has not arisen from any circumstances connected with the present state of the money market, served this morning (Saturday) to increase the general tendency to depression, and consols have now fallen to within about one per cent. of the lowest price touched last year, when the charge for discount was ten per cent., their present point is about equal to the average at which they stood throughout the Crimean war."

The Birmingham correspondent of the Times says: "We have reason to believe that the number of depositors at Attwood, Spooner & Co's. Bank is 3,000. The highest amount we heard of in any one deposit was £15,000. When the contemplated arrangement for an amalgamation with the Joint Stock Bank was finally broken off, there was scarcely the delay of an hour in determining to close the bank. A meeting of the creditors has been called for Thursday next. Pending that we offer no opinion as to the probable realization. The petition in bankruptcy was filed on behalf of Mr. H. Marshall, the only surviving partner."

The lock-out in the iron trade still continues, but a trade circular states there is a gleam of hope that a satisfactory settlement may be effected.

The Cape of Good Hope paper says:—

A Federal war steamer put into Table Bay on January 9, with the crews of the Lizzie M. Stacey, and the Edward, which had been burnt at sea by the Confederate cruiser Shenandoah. The latter had burnt also the Alena, Susan D. Godfrey and the Charter Oak. The Kate Prince was boarded. The Adelaide would have been burnt had she not belonged to a Confederate friend in Baltimore.

FRANCE.

THE LATE DUKE DE MORNY.

In the sitting of the Corps Legislatif of March 11, an imperial decree was read, ordering the obsequies of the Duke De Morny to be celebrated at the public expense, and the deputies will be present at the funeral rites, which are to take place at the Church of the Madeleine.

The funeral obsequies of the late Duke De Morny were performed on Monday with great pomp at Pere la Chaise.

The price of wheat was firm in the Paris market, and millers paid 50 centimes more a sack.

Notwithstanding the firmness in the price of wheat the price of flour remains stationary.

ITALY.

The Turin Opinione announces that the King has signed a decree granting a full amnesty for political offences and for contraventions of the press law, as well as to all those persons who were compromised in the Aspromonte affair. In the Deputies, penalty of death for crimes committed under the common law was agreed to. Capital punishment is maintained in the military and naval codes, and in the laws against brigandage.

The Turin journals publish a letter from the Minister of the Interior to the Sub-Prefect of Aosta, wherein he announces the lively satisfaction of the King at receiving the address from the municipality of that town. The Minister adds: "Assure the people that the reports which have been spread of the separation of the Valley of Aosta from Italy are absurd and utterly destitute of foundation; and, moreover, that it is the intention and desire of the King and of the whole nation always to maintain its connection with Italy, and defend it against every eventuality."

The letter concluded with a promise from the Minister to encourage the development of the resources of the province.

Signor Sella will make his financial report on the 14th.

Gen. Montebello has sent a dispatch to the French Government requesting it not to withdraw at present any division of the French army, now stationed in Rome, as otherwise it would be impossible to guarantee the maintenance of public order.

Signor Sella has made his financial statement. The total deficit for the financial years 1866-67 is 625,000,000 francs. From this amount has to be deducted 200 millions, the proceeds of the State railways, thus reducing the deficit to 425 millions. The Minister requests authority to contract a loan of 425 millions.

SPAIN.

A telegram from Madrid, of March 12, says: In to-day's sitting of the Congress, the Minister of Finance announced, that in consequence of the reduction effected in the budget the revenue and expenditure for 1865 would balance.

PRUSSIA.

In the Deputies a debate took place on the position of religious dissenters in Prussia. The Minister of Public Worship said that article twelve of the constitution protected the dissenters, and that the report of the committee acknowledged that they had not been subjected to any oppression. The creed of the dissenters is an aberration which must be left to its natural course. The national welfare is based upon the belief in God as revealed in the Old and New Testaments, and this is the principle which guides the Government.

AUSTRALIA.

A telegram from Melbourne, of Jan. 26, says: "A fine comet is visible in the southwest. It is supposed to be that of 1843, predicted by Herschell, as returnable in twenty-one and three-quarters years.

The Kent has arrived at Plymouth with 10,000 ounces of gold."

NEW BOOKS.

TOO STRANGE NOT TO BE TRUE. A Tale. By Lady GEORGIANA FULLERTON, authoress of "Ellen Middleton," "Grantley Manor," &c. Three volumes in one, with illustrations, 8vo. New-York: D. APPLETON & Co.

Lady FULLERTON is well known as one of the most accomplished women of the day. Her works of fiction have not been numerous, but they live individually in the minds of all who have read them, and to that large class of the community her name is a sufficient recommendation of any new book. She is one of the very limited number of persons of English birth who have been successful authors in a foreign language. Her Comtesse Bonneval, Histoire du Temps de Louis XIV., is received as a classic book in France, like BECKFORD's Vathek, and Lord MAHON's Histoire du Grand Condé. Her familiarity with the literature of continental Europe has probably guided her choice of a story for the present work. Too Strange Not to be True, is founded on a tradition current during the last century, and recorded in M. BOSSU's Travels in Louisiana. It relates to the mysterious fate of a royal personage, reminding one of the more recent momentary excitement that followed the question, "Have we a Bourbon among us?" The older story was based on the startling events that occurred in the dynasty of PETER the Great, of Russia. His eldest son ALEXIS, who afterward fell a victim to his father's severity, married a daughter of the house of Brunswick, the Princess CHARLOTTE SOPHIA, of Brunswick-Wolfenbuttel. The plea of insanity offers the best excuse for the wayward conduct of the heir to the throne of all the Russias. Among other acts of brutality, repeated attempts to rid himself of his unhappy bride by violence or poison were notorious, and at last it was asserted that she died from the consequences of a ferocious assault in one of his paroxysms of temporary frenzy. According to the romantic version of her fate, however, the death of the Princess was a feigned one, and she was rescued from the lot that seemed to await her by some attached adherents, and after many adventures succeeded in reaching the French Territory of Louisiana. Here she resided in peace many years, having married the Chevalier D'AUBAN, an officer who held a position in the Colonial Government. She finally returned to Europe on account of his health, and is reported to have died a widow, at an advanced age, after a lengthened residence at Brussels. It is in the New World, among the virgin forests, the floral splendors and atmospheric radiance of the tropics, that Lady FULLERTON introduces her heroine. Her former career is related to her husband, who has recognized the scion of royalty under a humbler garb. It will readily be seen with what facility a story of the kind adapts itself to the purposes of the novelist. The authoress is one of the recent converts to Catholicism, who had left Protestantism for a more imaginative faith. Accordingly the labors and sufferings of those saint-like men, the Jesuit missionaries, and their self-denying career among the Indian tribes, meet with their due share of notice. The course of the narrative, whether in Europe or America, is marked by a vraisemblance and fidelity to nature that show that Lady FULLERTON writes like a true literary artist. Her aim is always good, and it is skillfully wrought out, with no extravagance of thought or language, but in a style remarkable for its purity and simplicity. Too Strange Not To Be True is destined to be widely read.

TONY BUTLER. A Novel. 8vo. New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS.

It seems to be a matter of uncertainty, even among experienced novel-readers, whether in Tony Butler's adventures we make acquaintance with a new writer of fiction, or whether the credit of them rightfully belongs to some old favorite author. Partisans of the latter opinion halt between BULWER LYTTON and CHARLES LEVER. There are many points in the story that might be referred to either of these veteran romancers, while others, however, appear to indicate the freshness and inexperience of an unpracticed hand. BULWER's power of imitation and capacity for assuming at once an entirely new style of composition, was strikingly evidenced in the Caxton series of novels, so that it is difficult to pronounce decidedly in any question of his alleged authorship from mere internal evidence alone. CHARLES LEVER's claim to the book is certainly less probable, for though the hero is an Irishman, and not remotely connected with the "Harry Lorrequer" type of young Hibernian gentlemen, still it is with a difference, and there is a quiet, subdued tone of reticence about the book as different as possible from the rollicking atmosphere perennially redolent of whisky-punch, that LEVER's characters most delight in. Tony Butler shows in the writer the possession of superior reflective and descriptive powers. The female characters of the story also, are drawn with more force and better discriminated than those of Mr. LEVER, whose ladies are generally little better than lay figures. All agree that it is a good story, and it formed for some months a chief attraction as a serial in Blackwood's Magazine. In a completed form it ranks with the best work of the season. There is no more plot than in Roderick Random. The interest is purely personal, depending on the varying fortunes of the youth who gives name to the book, though he can scarcely be said to possess the attributes that make up the character of a hero. He is a specimen of that rare natural production, a bashful Irishman, who compensates for the diffidence that mistrusts his own talents, by good nature, sincerity, and honesty of purpose. In search of an appropriate field of action he is brought in contact with the liberation of Italy under GARIBALDI, with whom he serves and suffers. The minor characters are firmly sketched and display a keen perception of nature's varieties. No book of pleasanter reading has appeared for many months than Tony Butler.

VANITY FAIR, a Novel without a Hero. By WILLIAM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY, with illustrations by the author. 3 vols., 12mo. New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS.

Messrs. HARPERS have outdone themselves in this uniquely elegant edition of THACKERAY's masterpiece. Paper, printing, binding and form are all as near perfection as we are likely to see. We are familiar with every line of the original illustrations, and can only say they all appear in this edition, reduced and reproduced, with a fidelity truly wonderful, by some process that we do not understand, as it far beyond what mere copying could do.

Recent School Books.

- I. COMPARATIVE GEOGRAPHY. By CARL RITTER, late Professor of Geography in the University of Berlin. Translated for the Use of Schools and Colleges, by WILLIAM L. GAGE. 12mo. Philadelphia: J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co.
- II. MINERALOGY AND GEOLOGY. Science for the School and Family. Part III. By WORTHINGTON HOOKER, M. D., Professor of Medicine in Yale College. 12mo. New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS.
- III. METHOD OF PHILOLOGICAL STUDY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. By FRANCIS A. MARCH, Professor of the English Language in Lafayette College, Easton, Penn. 12mo. New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS.
- IV. THE AMERICAN UNION SPEAKER. Containing standard and recent selections in Prose and Poetry for Recitation and Declamation in Schools, &c., with Introductory Remarks on Elocution, and explanatory Notes. By JOHN D. PHILBRICK, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Boston. 12mo. Boston: TAGGARD & THOMPSON.

The superior excellence of the school-books that now appeal to the tribunal of the public for support, is a gratifying proof of the attention paid to the cause of education, while it also shows that men of acknowledged eminence in science and literature find inducements strong enough to enlist them in the service of popular instruction. Mr. GAGE's version of CARL RITTER's Academical Lectures on Comparative Geography, is a most valuable manual of the physical configuration of the earth, considered in its widest sense as affecting the course of history and the origin and progress of human culture. The translator was an attached pupil of the veteran geographer, whom he introduces to a new world, and has in preparation a biography of one who will always live as the founder of the science of comparative geography. This small volume forms a condensation of his studies, and offers in an accessible form the ripest products of his researches. Dr. HOOKER's popular introduction to Mineralogy and Geology is well adapted for a book of general instruction. Its clearness and precision of statement, and multitude of illustrations, admirably fit it for a popular manual, while the author's name is a sufficient guarantee for its scientific accuracy. Mr. MARCH's Plan of Philological Study for our language is so thorough and exhaustive in its scope, that we fear there is little chance of its general adoption. Its very merits disqualify it for ordinary scholastic use. The new Union Speaker is prepared by one who stands foremost among the practical working members of his profession and consequently must be supposed to realize the popular demands in a work of the kind. It is eminently practical in its suggestions, and aims to keep alive the attention of pupils, by the infusion of new matter of standard excellence in place of the old stock pieces that have answered the purposes of one generation at least. The mechanical execution of the book is very good.

Stock in importers' and speculators' hands, 222,000 Dry Hides, 2,800 Wet Salted Hides, and 1,200 bales East India Hides. The stock comprises 89,000 Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, &c., 18,000 Rio Grande, 18,500 California, 37,500 Orinoco, 500 Porto Cabello, 1,300 Maracaibo, 3,000 Aspinwall and San Juan, 4,800 Honduras, 1,500 Tampico and Matamoras, 4,000 Vera Cruz and Mexican, 8,000 Savanilla, &c., 1,500 West Indies, 35,000 African Kips, 1,200 bales Calcutta Cow and Buffalo, 1,600 Wet Salted Buenos Ayres, 1,000 Wet Salted California.

LEATHER—The movements in this line, during the past week, Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co. review thus: "For Hemlock Sole the market is exceedingly dull under a very small demand from any section, and the few sales are confined to prime parcels of middle-weight Buenos Ayres. Quotations may be considered entirely nominal, the transactions being too meagre to establish a price. The receipts from the tanneries, about 48,000 sides, are very light for the season, partly owing to the interruption to transportation by the recent floods, but more especially to the small workings by the tanners during last Summer. The stock, though not excessive, is well assorted, with a greater portion of prime qualities than for some time past. Oak Sole is also very inactive at somewhat reduced rates. The stock is accumulating. We quote: Oak Slaughter and salted, good light, 46c.@48c.; Oak Slaughter and salted, good middle, 48c.@50c.; Oak slaughter and salted, good heavy, 48c.@50c.; Oak, light cropped, good, 49c.@50c.; Oak, middle cropped, good, 50c.@53c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good light, 34c.@35c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, good middle, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, good heavy, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, California, good light, 34c.@35c.; Hemlock, California, good middle, 37c.@38c.; Hemlock, California, good heavy, 36c.@37c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good light, 33c.@34c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, good middle, 35c.@36c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, good heavy, 34c.@35c.; Hemlock, Orinoco and Buenos Ayres, damaged, all weights, 30c.@33c.; Hemlock, Orinoco and Buenos Ayres, poor, all weights, 25c.@27c.; Hemlock, slaughter, in rough, 35c.@37c.; Oak slaughter, in rough, 48c.@52c., cash ℔ lb."

METALS—Have been very quiet and much depressed, including Ingot Copper at 35½c.@36½c.; Scotch Pig Iron $55@$57; No. 1 American $51 ℔ ton; Pig Lead 9¾c.@10½c.; Spelter 9¼c.@9½c. ℔ lb.

PETROLEUM—Continues quiet at 33c.@34c. for Crude; 53c.@54c. for Refined, in bond, and 73c.@74c. for do. free, ℔ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been quoted firmer, with a moderate inquiry, but it closes quite heavily. Sales since our last 4,100 bbls., in lots, at $25 50@$26, closing at $25 50 cash for New Mess; $22 50@$23 for 1863-'64 Mess; $24@$24 50 for Prime Mess; $22 @$23 for Old and New Prime, ℔ bbl. Sales were also reported of 1,000 bbls. New Mess, and 500 bbls. Prime Mess, May delivery, on private terms. Cut Meats are inactive and heavy; we quote 15c.@15½c. for Shoulders; 16c.@16½c. for Hams; sales equal to 170 pkgs. Bacon is plenty and depressed. Sales have been made of 640 bxs., including Cumberland Cut for immediate delivery at 15c.; long rib at 16c.; short rib at 16c.@16½c., and long cut hams on private terms, ℔ lb. Dressed Hogs continue dull and nominal. Lard is declining. Sales 1,400 tcs. and bbls. 15½c.@18½c., the latter an outside price; also some lots of prime at 11½c. in gold. Beef rules heavy to-day at $16 50@$21 for Extra Mess; $13@$17 for Plain Mess; sales 300 bbls. Beef Hams are quite dull and heavy. Butter is in demand at 48c.@35c., for poor to very choice State, and 12c.@21c. for Western. Cheese is in request at 14c.@24c. for poor to choice, ℔ lb.

SKINS—Deer are neglected. The recent large arrivals of Mexican Goat have replenished the supply, but sales are extremely hard to effect in the almost entire cessation of the demand, and prices are merely nominal. Holders for the most part demand late gold rates, ranging at about 40c. for Tampico, which buyers refuse to pay. A small parcel of Tampico sold late last week at about the above figure.

SUGARS—Have been in rather more demand, at somewhat firmer prices. Sales since our last comprise 830 hhds. Cuba, &c., part at 11¾c.@14c. ℔ lb. Refined Sugars are inactive of 14c.@19c. ℔ lb.

TALLOW—Sales 52,000 lbs., at 12c.@12¼c., chiefly at 12¼c. ℔ lb.

WHISKY—Sales have been confined to 300 bbls., in lots, at $2 10@$2 11 ℔ gallon.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool, the engagements included 500 boxes Bacon, and 100 pkgs. Lard on private terms; 3,000 Horse Hides at 2s. 6d. ℔ ton; also, 100 bales Cotton, by steamer, at ⅜d. For Cork and a market, a British ship, with Timber, at 30s. For Bremen, 400 hhds. Tobacco at 17s. 6d.@20s. For Hamburg, a Danish brig, with 100 tons Wood and 20 pkgs. Honey at 20s. For Santos, a Swedish brig (1,500 bbls. capacity) at $1 12 ℔ bbl.

NEW SKIRT.
THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE IN HOOP-SKIRTS.
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.
WESTS, BRADLEY & CARY (late J. I. & J. O. West), SOLE PROPRIETORS AND MANUFACTURERS, No. 97 CHAMBERS and Nos. 79 and 81 Reade-st., New-York.
THIS INVENTION consists of DUPLEX (or two) ELLIPTIC PURE REFINED STEEL SPRINGS, ingeniously BRAIDED TIGHTLY and FIRMLY together, EDGE TO EDGE, making the TOUGHEST, most FLEXIBLE, ELASTIC and DURABLE SPRING ever used. They seldom BEND or BREAK, like the single springs, and consequently preserve their PERFECT and BEAUTIFUL SHAPE MORE THAN TWICE as LONG as ANY SINGLE SPRING SKIRT that EVER HAS or CAN be MADE.
THE WONDERFUL FLEXIBILITY and great COMFORT and PLEASURE to any LADY WEARING the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in all CROWDED ASSEMBLIES, OPERA, CARRIAGE, RAILROAD-CARS, CHURCH-PEWS, ARM-CHAIRS, for PROMENADE and HOUSE-DRESS, as the SKIRT can be FOLDED when in use, to OCCUPY a small place as easily and conveniently as a SILK or MUSLIN DRESS.
A LADY having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SPRING SKIRT for a SINGLE DAY, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. For CHILDREN, MISSES and YOUNG LADIES are superior to all others.
THEY are the best QUALITY in every part, and UNQUESTIONABLY the LIGHTEST, MOST DESIRABLE, COMFORTABLE and ECONOMICAL SKIRT ever made. FOR SALE in all FIRST-CLASS STORES in THIS CITY and throughout the UNITED STATES, HAVANA DE CUBA, MEXICO, SOUTH AMERICA and the WEST INDIES.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 62 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by DR. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitutions, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 61 Franklin-st., between Broadway and Elm-st., New-York.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL CONSULTATIONS.—Dr. R. CORBETT can be consulted with the most honorable confidence on private diseases at his conveniently-arranged suite of office, No. 20 Centre-st., between Chambers and Reade sts., having a private entrance at No. 6 City Hall-place. From Dr. C. being one of the oldest, and probably the only qualified physician and surgeon in this City who makes diseases of the genitourinary organs a specialty, he is thus enabled to guarantee speedy and permanent cures, or make no charge. Strictures of the urethra, seminal weakness nervous and general debility treated on the most scientific principles. N. B.—See Dr. C.'s diplomas, in his office, as member of the New-York University Medical College, and College of Surgeons, London. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8½ P. M.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY BE confidentially consulted on all diseases of a private nature. A practice of 30 years, devoted to the treatment and cure of Syphilitic, Mercurial and diseases of a delicate nature, enables Dr. C. to make speedy and permanent cures, no matter of how long standing the case may be. Strictures of the urethra, and seminal weakness, brought on by a secret habit, effectually cured. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured or no charge made.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES, who require a safe and certain remedy for removing obstructions, from whatever cause. Can rely upon the celebrated INFALLIBLE FRENCH FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS, No. 1, price $1 a box, to restore the monthly sickness in forty-eight hours, if of short standing; but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy; price $5 a box. Sold at No. 129½ Liberty-st., and 162 Chambers-st., or sent by mail, with full instructions. Address Box 2,350 N. Y. P. O.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. Beware of imitations! Purchased directly of Dr. POWERS, 61 Franklin-st., N. Y.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED.—DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, informs ladies that "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is for every lady, but more particularly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., N. Y.

THOUSANDS ARE RUINED BEYOND REDEMPTION in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER sooner or later. He can cure the worst cases of secret disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read lots of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, that had had the benefit of dozens of our most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery, DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures private diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. $2 per vial. Book, 80 pages, gratis.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS.—OFFICE OF the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, No. 32 Chambers-st., New-York, January 7, 1865.

Notice is hereby given that the Assessment Rolls of the real and personal estate of the City and County of New-York, for 1865, will be open for inspection and review from and after MONDAY, January 9, 1865, and will remain open till the 30th day of April, 1865, for the correction of errors and the equalization of the assessments of the aforesaid real and personal estate of the City and County of New-York. All persons believing themselves to be aggrieved must make application to the Commissioners during the period above-mentioned, in order to obtain the relief provided by law. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of the real estate, it must be made in writing, stating the ground of objection thereto, and thereupon the Commissioners shall examine into the complaint, and if in their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of the personal estate, the applicant shall be examined under oath by said Commissioners, who shall be authorized to administer such oath, and if, in his or their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected, and fix the amount of such assessment as they may believe to be just, and declare their decision thereon within thirty days after such application shall have been made to them. No reduction shall be made by the Board of Supervisors of any assessment on real or personal estate imposed under this act, unless it shall appear, under oath or affirmation, that the party aggrieved was unable to attend within the period prescribed for the correction of taxes, by reason of sickness or absence from the city.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Before daylight last Saturday morning, three divisions of the enemy made a sudden and determined attack on Fort Steadman, in front of Petersburgh, overpowering the garrison and capturing the fort, where they temporarily established themselves, and turned the guns upon our lines. Our troops on either flank maintained their ground. A determined attack on Fort Haskell was gallantly repulsed with great loss to the enemy. After several attempts to retake the hill, a charge was made by the Second Brigade, aided by the troops of the Third Division on either flank, and the rebels were driven out of the fort, with the loss of about 2,700 prisoners, and the whole line was reoccupied, with the guns uninjured. The slaughter of the enemy at the point where they entered our lines, and in front of it, is estimated by Gen. Grant at not less than 3,000. Our own loss is estimated at 800, and may prove to be less.

Gen. Schofield reports to Gen. Grant, under date of Goldsboro, March 21, the occupation of that place, with but slight opposition. He states that Gen. Terry's column, from Wilmington, would probably reach Goldsboro that night. Gen. Schofield had no apprehensions about Gen. Sherman, who, it was supposed, was gradually approaching Goldsboro.

Dates from Savannah and Charleston, by way of Port Royal, are to the 21st. There is little news. Our vessels in Charleston harbor are somewhat annoyed by torpedoes, but no serious accident has occurred. Secretary Welles, Assistant Secretary Fox, and Maj.-Gen. Robert Anderson, will visit Charleston for the purpose of raising the old flag on Fort Sumter, which was taken away by the General, then Major Anderson, on his departure for New-York. The flag has been sacredly preserved, and will again be thrown to the breeze, on old Sumter's walls, on the 12th of April. Gen. Saxton had arrived at Charleston, and has established his headquarters at the Alston House.

A troublesome guerrilla gang was broken up last Wednesday at a place near Paducah. Twenty of the villans, including the notorious Capt. McDougal, were killed.

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship America, from Southampton on the 15th inst., arrived at this port last evening with three days' later intelligence. An interesting debate took place in the House of Commons, on the 13th inst., respecting the defences of Canada. The news from the continent is unimportant.

GENERAL NEWS.

News from Venezuela, dated at Caraccas on the 24th of February, represents the country as in the most wretched state of anarchy. Most of the provinces were isolated from the capital, all mail communication being destroyed by the warring factions. Only two of the legations of the republic—one in Paris and the other in Lima, Peru—were in existence. El Federalista, the organ of the Falcon Government, says: "In Apure they are shedding blood, nobody knows why. In Trujillo, called the sovereign State of the Andes, many believe that independence is disorder, murder, arson, &c. In Maracaibo they conceived the idea of an independent republic, and new Secretaries of War and Treasury were appointed, and the Eastern States live without prosperity, and debility ruins them."

Mr. Garrison, in the last Liberator, confirms the report that he intends to discontinue that paper at the end of the present year, which will complete its thirty-fifth volume. He says, however: "But this will not necessarily sunder our connection with the press, nor prevent our publishing another journal, under a new title, and for other reformatory purposes. Whether we shall retire altogether, or commence anew in the manner suggested, we leave it to Divine Providence to determine."

The Peninsular, or Bay de Noquet Railroad, from Escanaba to Marquette, is expected to be completed and opened in about four weeks. The road opens the Lake Superior regions to Chicago, bringing Marquette, Wisconsin, within a day's ride of the latter, by boat from Escanaba, and thence by the Northwestern Railroad. Chicago expects to take from Detroit and Cleveland the Lake Superior trade which they have enjoyed so largely.

On Tuesday last, a gentleman walking on the track of the New-York and New-Haven Road, near West Haven village, discovered the mangled remains of a man, apparently 50 years of age, lying in a cattle guard. The man was seen the evening before walking up the track, and recognized as a stroller who had been soliciting alms at houses in that locality.

The New-York State Agricultural Fair for 1865 was located by the Executive Committee, on the 23d inst., at Utica, to be held Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15. Hugh Crocker, of Utica, was appointed a member of the board, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Elon Comstock.

Hon. William C. Crain died at Herkimer, N. Y., on the 16th, aged 67. He was Speaker of the Assembly in 1846, and the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor in 1860, and always enjoyed the confidence and friendship of the leading men of that party.

James L. Langworthy, who emigrated from Vermont to Iowa in 1828, before the Indians had relinquished possession, died in Dubuque, a few days ago, aged 65 years. In 1830 he obtained claim, for $700, to most of the land upon which the City of Dubuque now stands.

Mrs. Gen. Sherman, who is the guest at Chicago of Bishop Duggan, was complimented on Wednesday evening by a serenade. A welcome address was made to Mrs. S. to which Bishop Duggan, in behalf of Mrs. S., responded. Mrs. Sherman is daughter of Thos. Ewing, of Ohio.

The steamship St. David, from Liverpool the 9th inst., and Queenstown the 11th inst., arrived at Portland yesterday morning. Her news is anticipated.

Jay Cooke reports the subscriptions to the 7-30 loan at $2,107,300. The total subscriptions for the week amount to $16,705,800.

On Friday last, at Toledo, Ohio, Henry Ducalon was executed for the murder of Frederick Boorman.

LOCAL NEWS.

In the United States Supreme Court, on Saturday, Gen. Dix made a return to the writ of habeas corpus, issued by Judge Betts, in the case of W. L. Bickley. The return states that Bickley was committed to Fort Lafayette as a State prisoner, and not as a prisoner of war; and that before the service of the Judge's order, Bickley had been transferred to Fort Warren, by order of the Secretary of War, and consequently was not within the jurisdiction of the court.

Patrick Carr, a seaman, was burned to death, yesterday morning, in his room, in Mrs. Catharine Kearnes' boarding-house, at No. 13 Monroe-street.

The Wesleyan Methodist Church in Forty-eighth-street, corner of Ninth-avenue, was dedicated, yesterday, with appropriate ceremonies.

Mexican Affairs—Will there be War upon Maximilian?

Is our war with the rebellion—now soon to close—to be followed by another against Maximilian in Mexico? The time is not distant when this will be forced upon us as a practical question.

Were the answer to depend simply upon our national right, it would be easily decided. We have a right to protect a neighbor from the subversion of its Government by foreign usurpation. That is a principle of international law, sustained by countless European precedents. It falls within the most limited construction of the Monroe doctrine, established by our fathers. It is not necessary to inquire whether this right cannot be taken away by the acquiescence of the Mexican people in this change. It is enough to say that there is no proof that the majority of the Mexican people would prefer that Maximilian should reign over them. The fact that a large French army is still kept upon Mexican soil, to put down all resistance, is evidence to the contrary. There can be no reason why the Mexican troops, regular and militia, should not be trusted to keep order, if the Government of Maximilian has a real strength in the confidence and affections of the people. Until the last French soldier, and every other foreign mercenary, quits Mexico, and the defence of Maximilian's throne is left entirely to the voluntary action of the Mexicans themselves, it must be assumed that his government is imposed by foreign means, and accepted because there is no help for it. If our own government shall choose to furnish that help, its right to do so cannot be controverted.

But these are questions of expediency that suggest themselves. Are the Mexicans sufficiently capable of self-government to make it worth our while to help them recover it? Would not an orderly government under Maximilian be better for them than the anarchy which had reigned previously for a generation? Are we prepared to follow up an expulsion of Maximilian by the annexation of Mexico to our own nationality, or by other means of securing for it a good and stable government? Again, supposing the expediency to be established, there might be questions respecting the best time for making the intervention. Will not our country so need rest after the rebellion, that it would be better to take time to recuperate before exposing ourselves to a fresh war? Would not the mighty questions which must arise, concerning the reorganization of the South, sufficiently engross our attention, without engaging ourselves in external complications? Would not a certain delay be advantageous for Mexico herself, by its securing for her the completion of the railroads and other great internal improvements which Maximilian now thinks it to be his policy to push forward?

It would be easy to multiply these questions of expediency. But after all it is probable that they will not affect the actual result. It would be far better could the action of our Government depend upon the conclusion reached through a thorough discussion of the subject in all its bearings. This cannot be anticipated. In all probability, our future relations with Mexico will be determined mainly by circumstances quite beyond our control. Whatever the policy of our Government, sixty days will not elapse after the disbandment of our armies, before Maximilian will see the gleam of American bayonets. Thousands of veteran soldiers in both the national and the Confederate armies have contracted a taste for war that would of itself draw them into any military field within their reach. Other thousands, who would be willing enough under ordinary circumstances, to return to peaceful pursuits, would yet yield to their love for popular rights and republican principles, and be eager to join in clearing the continent from Imperial usurpation. Our Government has no power to prevent any such soldier, after his discharge, from going to Mexico, and enlisting, when he gets there, under the Republican flag. Even had it recognized the rule of Maximilian, as it has not, and even were it disposed to exercise toward him every obligation due a friendly Power, it could not prevent the departure of any discharged soldier to Mexico. There is no law, either municipal or international, which either imposes the duty or bestows the right. We may as well take it for granted that the Juarez Government will be heavily reinforced by American soldiers in a short time after the termination of our war with the rebels; and that if Maximilian persists in holding on to his rule, he will, at any rate, have to fight for it harder than ever before. But could the combat go on without drawing our Government into it? Could those who had been American soldiers fight foreign mercenaries for any length of time, in behalf of republicanism, without so firing the American heart at home that the Government would have no alternative but to launch into the conflict? That we consider the real practical question. It is a question which will almost certainly be forced upon us by events, and which will be quite independent of any policy predetermined either in Congress or Cabinet councils.

If Maximilian were a wise man he would foresee this sequel, and would at once take action to save himself from it. He would lose no time in breaking up his foreign legions, and putting himself entirely at the disposition of the Mexican people. If he thinks he could not safely do that, then let him abdicate forthwith. There is no earthly chance for his retaining his throne against the will of the Mexican people. No foreign force can avail him in repressing that will, after the close of this present war shall leave American bayonets free. The strongest foreign protectorate would prove to him but a pasteboard shield. Possibly, having given sympathy as he has to the Confederate cause, he may count upon the help of the disbanded Confederate armies. He will get no such help. The Southern people are as strongly against foreign domination on this continent as are the Northern. A few venal officers of the rebel armies might be seduced to the imperial standard, but the rank and file never. The old American sentiment would assert itself. Those who are now antagonists, would be found fighting on that ground, shoulder to shoulder. It will be a fatal mistake for Maximilian to trust any other calculation.

Lee on the Offensive.

The rebel General-in-Chief seems to have been seriously deceived as to the scope and bent of certain movements ordered early last week by Gen. Grant, on the left of our lines. These movements were made the subject of comment in the Richmond papers on Wednesday; and the Whig of that date, while doubtful whether Gen. Grant's apparent activity was not intended to deceive, pointed out at the same time the probability of his taking advantage of the weather to advance. Lee seems to have attached some weight to the latter conjecture, when he ordered an attack by three divisions upon Fort Steadman before daylight on Saturday morning. The attack, in the first instance, was made with a suddenness and a dash which made it a temporary success. Striking a portion of our lines held by the Third Brigade, First Division of the Ninth Corps, the rebels wheeled, and made an overpowering attack upon Fort Steadman, of which they soon got possession. Having made good their position on the hill adjoining the fort, they turned our guns upon our men, and gaining confidence by the turn fortune had given them, they made a subsequent dash upon Fort Haskill. But here their luck, and probably their spirits, forsook them. Portions of Wilcox's and Hartsuff's divisions bravely opposed a further rebel advance; and, after one or two attempts by our troops to retake this Fort Steadman, which were only partially successful, the gallant men of the Second Brigade, with the troops of the First Division on either flank, came to the rescue, for a determined and final assault, and finally regained possession, three thousand rebels having fallen in the terrible struggle, and twenty-seven hundred surrendering themselves prisoners.

Shortly after mid-day Gen. Parke was in a position to report to Gen. Grant the results of the morning's work; and by that hour it is probable that Lee had become aware of what his momentary victory had cost him. Whether the rebel General concludes that he can afford to lose six thousand men of a morning to feel the weak points in Gen. Grant's lines we shall probably learn anon.

North Carolina—Sherman, Schofield and Terry.

In a dispatch, admirable for its brevity and clearness, Gen. Schofield has resolved whatever doubts of a serious character may have been entertained regarding the safety of Sherman's position up to Tuesday, the 21st.

That dispatch not only shows a perfect harmony of design in the movements of Schofield from Kinston, and of Terry direct from Wilmington, but it shows, on the part of these officers, a thorough comprehension of the subsidiary task assigned them in the general scheme of Sherman's advance. They were both fully up to time—a prime requisite in officers whose duties are mainly executive. Schofield, indeed, appears to have been—as we anticipated—ahead of his chief at the point of rendezvous. His force reached Goldsboro on Tuesday afternoon. Gen. Terry by a direct advance over the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, had got as far as Faison's Station, or within sixteen miles of Goldsboro, on Monday. At the same time Sherman's right wing—the Seventeenth Corps—was approaching, from a southwest direction, to Mount Olive, another station on the Wilmington road, eight miles distant from Goldsboro; while the left wing was pressing Johnston back from Bentonsville, by a line apparently on the longitude of Smithfield, the half-way railroad station between Goldsboro and Raleigh.

On Tuesday, the 21st, then, we have the national army occupying an eccentric line, the extreme points of which were Goldsboro and Bentonsville, held respectively by Schofield's column, and Sherman's left wing, and distant by a direct road, seventeen or eighteen miles; Terry's column and Sherman's right at the same time occupying the intermediate points, within probably less than a day's march from either extreme.

This admirable disposition of his main army and the subsidiary columns of Terry and Schofield, must have made it perfectly easy for Sherman to compel Johnston's retreat immediately after the Sunday engagement at Bentonsville, without striking the rebels a second time with his left. From the moment Schofield got into Goldsboro, with Terry almost in sight on the Wilmington road, and the Seventeenth Corps approaching Mount Olive station on the same line, Johnston's position was so exposed to an overpowering flank movement, that his only possible safety, we take it, lay in a precipitate retreat on Monday, or, at latest, on Tuesday, by way of Raleigh.

The sullen silence of Davis' Richmond organ of Wednesday's date, respecting the sequences of Johnston's victory, supplies additional confirmation of this conclusion as to the bent of the rebel force after venturing upon the skirmish of Sunday, the 19th. The three separate columns on Sherman's right, were probably each sufficient, by itself, to turn any resistance of Johnston's, south of the Goldsboro and Raleigh Railroad, into an overwhelming rebel disaster. Such resistance, then, we may safely conclude, was not offered; and Johnston has doubtless, once more, fallen back on the Fabian policy which made his Georgia campaign memorable, if not glorious.

The Military Execution on Saturday.

The wretched criminal, Kennedy, who suffered the extreme penalty of military law at Fort Lafayette on Saturday, belonged, too clearly, to the vulgar class of malefactors to make his story note-worthy in any particular save his confession of being one of the principals in a felony, the commission of which has been steadily charged by rebel agents and rebel organs here, to Government intrigue.

There is nothing novel in the version which Kennedy has given of the infernal plot in which he and others were concerned. The prime Confederate agencies for burning the chief cities of the loyal States were stationed in Canada. The money to conduct the enterprise was supplied from the same source. Instruments for the work were sought and found chiefly among vagabond rebel officers, of whom Beall and Kennedy were probably the best types. Both of these culprits were evidently fitted by their training, habits, and natural instincts, for cut-throat enterprises. Both were equally loud in asserting their claims to the title of "gentlemen." Both affected to maintain a species of courage in view of the proof and punishment of their crimes; and both were equally high-toned in their professions of patriotic duty. In one respect, there seems to have been some difference between them. Kennedy's native breeding would appear to have been some degrees lower than his confederate. This is shown in his alternate pleadings for a reprieve, and his abuse of the power that could grant it. Still more clearly was it shown in his blasphemous speech on the scaffold. With the ignorant crowd, that are always eager to listen to gallows utterances, the fact of this wretched being having made his responses to the prayers of the attendant clergyman in the profanest ribaldry, would establish his claim to the rank of a hero. To those who can think justly, the same thing would simply be proof that, in addition to his native disposition to crime, this so-called Southern gentleman and Confederate officer was, socially, a low and despicable buffoon.

It is hardly permitted us to believe that the crime of destroying, by secret incendiarism, whole households, men, women and children by the thousand, could possibly be laid at the door of any one whose instincts and training were above that of a social outcast. And herein the horrible picture of this creature Kennedy, reeling into the presence of his maker with blasphemous ribaldry on his tongue, surely supplies ample confirmation. Had there been no war and no rebellion, Kennedy would have belonged essentially to the criminal population of the country, and, a thousand to one, his end would have scarcely been less infamous than it has been.

Thackeray's Works.

The Harpers have just issued an edition of Vanity Fair, which we trust is the precursor of a complete library edition of the works of this greatest master of English fiction of the present age. It is a most elegant edition,—upon fine paper, in clear, tasteful type, reproducing all the illustrations of the original edition, and in every respect among the most beautiful issues of the American press. Thackeray's reputation with his cotemporaries has not been equal to that of some of his rivals,—but we are confident his writings will be more highly valued in coming years than those of any novelist of the present day. In his analysis of character, his knowledge of human nature and society, and in the graphic and remorseless truthfulness with which he has delineated the marked features of both, he is without a rival. His style is the perfection of the language. His works will constitute as permanent a part of the treasures of English literature as those of Addison, Fielding or any of the great masters of the past, and no better service could possibly be rendered to the reading public than a complete edition of his works, in the superb style of these three volumes, just issued and containing Vanity Fair. We trust the others will follow in quick succession.

Amusements.

The announcements at the various theatres to-night are as follows: At the Winter Garden, the new and successful military drama of "Corporal Cartouche, or the Forlorn Hope;" at Wallacks, Jerrold's comedy of "Time Works Wonders;" at Niblo's, Miss Western in "East Lynne;" at the Theatre Français, (to-morrow night,) "La Cagnotte;" at the Broadway Theatre, Mr. J. E. Owens in his great rôle of Caleb Plummer, in "Dot;" and at Barnum's, (an inexhaustible establishment, where everything is liberal and meritorious,) the play of "Damon and Pythias," with Mr. J. B. Studley in the leading rôle.

The present is the last week of Mr. Heller's Gygean programme, and comic solos.

At the Hippotheatron, Mr. Eaton Stone, the great rider, makes his first appearance to-night. "Mother Goose" will be given for the last time.

Mr. L. M. Gottschalk will play at the Music Concert (Niblo's Saloon) to-night. It is the last appearance but three of this truly national artist. He will be assisted by Miss Lucy Simmons, Mr. Harry Sanderson, Signor Mongiardini, Signor Ypolitto, Mr. Eden and Mr. Reitzel. Mr. Gottschalk will introduce several of his new compositions, never before played here.

Mlle. de Katow and Mr. Jas. M. Wehli gave two attractive musical entertainments at Niblo's Saloon last week. The gentleman played superbly. There will be a final performance by these artists, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, on Wednesday next.

Mr. Young, an excellent and conscientious actor, takes his benefit at Wallack's Theatre to-morrow evening.

The fifth soirée of Chamber Music took place at Dodworth's Hall, on Saturday evening, when the following interesting programme was discussed: 1. Quartette, in B opus. 18, No. 6, by Beethoven; 2. Sonata Le trille due Diable, by Partini, (performed on the violin with extraordinary skill and clearness by Mr. Theodore Thomas); 3. Quintette for piano and stringed instrument, in A Minor op. 107, by Raff. These movements were faithfully and artistically interpreted by Messrs. Wm. Mason, Theodore Thomas, J. Mosenthal, G. Matzka and F. Bergner. An unusual but acceptable vocal innovation was made by Mr. August Kreisman, a capital concert singer, who sang half a dozen German songs with rare intelligence and nicety of feeling. Three were by Schumann and three by Franz—the last a composer who is steadily making his way in classic esteem. Franz's treatment of a film of melody, of an atomic idea, is generally good and frequently singularly delicate and fresh. It is not difficult, however, to detect a very strong tendency toward Schubert. Without the pleasant plashing of the piano, it would be difficult to attach either meaning or importance to the very turgid sentences which are here supposed to pass muster as songs. They are in fact mere suggestions for the spirited repartee of the piano; occasions for skillful embroidery; opportunities for answering neat little musical questions, and doing it rather learnedly. Such works lack strength, but they are polished, and in a certain way, perfect, especially when interpreted by an intelligent singer like Mr. Kreisman, and an admirable accompanyist like Mr. William Mason.

The Annual Ball of the Melo-Chorean Society takes place at Irving Hall on Easter Monday, the 17th April. This year it will be purely an invitation ball, and those who attend it must be in fancy dress or mask and domino. The Melo-Chorean Society is composed of critics, literary people, and artists—musical and dramatic—and the congregation that will be present on Easter Monday will astonish the natives. The arrangements are on the most liberal scale, and there is no doubt that the ball will be the most brilliant of the season.

Slavery in Brazil.

Emancipation in Brazil has, to a certain extent, been a practical matter for a number of years, by the mild laws regarding the manumitting of slaves. But there has arisen a new phase of the subject, and efforts were made last year in the Brazilian Senate for more summarily dealing with slavery. This year there is a determination to bring up the question in the Chamber of Deputies—the popular branch of the Brazilian Parliament. A number of leading Brazilian gentlemen—some of them officials—have desired Rev. J. C. Fletcher, whose name is known in connection with Brazil, to collect and send to them documents, pamphlets, statistics and works in general bearing on slavery, emancipation, &c. Mr. Fletcher has already appealed through the New-York press, but informs us that, while he has received some few important contributions, New-York has not responded as the City of Boston has done. Our war has had an immense influence in shaking the slave fabric in every country, and now while the Brazilians, with their enlightened Emperor, are resolved to deal with the subject, let us not be backward in responding to the appeal for information on this subject. A capital opportunity occurs to send these works by the first naturalist of the age, Prof. Agassiz, who, while he goes to explore Brazil as a savant, is warm in his sympathies for his fellow man. Anything sent in before noon on Wednesday next, to J. O. Wood, Esq., at Wheeler & Wilson's, No. 625 Broadway, will be in time.

Obituary.

LIEUT. EDWARD CARRINGTON.

A letter from Florida, published in the Times a few days since, conveyed the sad intelligence of the death, in the battle of Natural Bridge, during the advance against St. Mark's, of Lieut. Carrington, of Brig.-Gen. Newton's staff. Lieut. Carrington's mind was at once brilliant and solid, possessed alike of a keen wit and a liberal and comprehensive grasp of thought, and graced by those qualities that give popularity and gain a firm and enduring friendship.

Lieut. Carrington was a native of Brooklyn, New-York, but in his early youth, his parents removed to Colebrook, in Connecticut. He graduated at Yale in 1859, the acknowledged leader of his class, in mental acumen and literary ability, and among the first of its scholars. After graduating, he taught in one of the public schools of this city, at the same time pursuing his studies at the Columbia College Law School. From this institution he graduated, in 1861, with its highest honors. The succeeding year he passed in the office of Messrs. Bowdoin, Larocque & Barlow, and was beginning to obtain a valuable and desirable practice. But in the Summer of 1862, the fall of his friend and classmate, Capt. Hannahs, of this city, drew his mind especially to his duty in this war, and he decided to join the army. He obtained a position as Second Lieutenant in the One Hundred and Forty-third Regiment, New-York Volunteers, and was stationed with his regiment, both at Upton's Hill and at Norfolk, Virginia.

From this latter encampment he was called to a position on Gen. Wadsworth's staff in the army of the Potomac, and shortly after participated in the bloody battle of the Wilderness, when Hooker was baffled in his advance.

Upon Gen. Wadsworth's retiring temporarily from the army, he was transferred to the staff of Brig.-Gen. Newton, at that time nominated to the Senate as Major-General. The Senate did not confirm the nomination, and in the reorganization of our armies before the opening of Grant's grand campaign, Gen. Newton was assigned to Sherman's army. Thither Carrington accompanied him, and shared in the dangers and triumphs of the famous campaign against Atlanta. After the battle of Kenesaw Mountain he was the only member of Gen. Newton's staff who remained uninjured.

Upon the conclusion of that campaign, Gen. Newton was ordered to the command of Key West, and Carrington again accompanied him. Several months since Gen. Newton established at Key West a Provost Court, and Lieut. Carrington was appointed Associate Judge.

His friends now congratulated themselves that he would pass the ordeal of the war unscathed, and were looking forward, with eager anticipations, to his return home during the coming season.

But in the advance upon St. Mark's, he was, as always, in his place, at the post of danger, and death, that "loves a shining mark," sought him there and laid him low. His only brother is Adjutant in a colored regiment in the Army of the Potomac. May Heaven heal the bitter wound caused by the death of the one, and spare their many friends the pain of the fall of the other. H.

The Movement Against Mobile—Severe Gale—Marine Disasters.

New-Orleans, Saturday, March 18,
Via Cairo, Saturday, March 25.

The grand military movement against Mobile commenced yesterday by Gen. Benton's Third Division, Thirteenth Corps; Col. Bertram's First Brigade, Twenty-second Corps; Gen. Vison's and Stokes' brigades are also moving in the direction of Bonsecour.

Gen. Andrews also moved from Barrancas with two brigades, and took possession of Pensacola, which he now holds.

The rebel guard-boat Anna Dale, with one gun, was recently captured in Matagorda Bay.

Seven vessels were blown ashore in a recent gale at the mouth of the Rio Grande. The steam lighter Mexico was burned outside the bar, and all hands drowned.

The United States steamers Seminole, Quaker City and Circassian were at Brazos on Saturday, the 11th instant.

WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Guerrilla Gang Broken Up—A Notorious Leader Killed—General Guerrilla Hunt in West Kentucky.

Cairo, Saturday, March 25.

A fight occurred between twenty of our troops and seventy guerrillas, thirty miles from Paducah, on Wednesday night. Twenty of the guerrillas were killed, including the notorious leader, Capt. McDougal. Capt. McGregory was killed on our side.

Gen. Meredith has several expeditions out, clearing West Kentucky of guerrillas.

Six hundred and eighty bales of cotton passed here for Cincinnati, and two hundred for St. Louis, to-day.

The Seven-Thirty Loan.

Philadelphia, Sunday, March 26.

Jay Cooke reports the subscription to the Seven-Thirty Loan, on Saturday, at $2,107,300. The largest Western subscription was $64,500 from Chicago, and the largest Eastern one $50,000 from Springfield, Mass. There were 1,474 individual subscriptions for $50 and $100 each. The total subscription for the week amount to $16,705,800

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

Washington, Sunday, March 26.

THE REPULSE OF LEE'S ATTACK.

The decisive repulse of Lee's attack on our lines before Petersburgh, yesterday, is the cause of much congratulation among loyal people here to-day. As usual, however, rumor has enlarged upon the report thus far received, and extravagant statements of still greater successes are in circulation, but there is nothing to warrant them, and the very acceptable bulletins of Secretary Stanton do not need further embellishment to produce rejoicing everywhere.

The general accepted explanation of Lee's attack is that it was made under the spur of desperate necessity, and having failed, the evacuation of the Petersburgh lines, and Richmond itself, cannot long be denied.

SHERMAN'S CAMPAIGN.

As intimated in the Washington dispatches printed in Saturday's Times, Gen. Schofield occupied Goldsboro on the 21st, and the practical junction of his army with that of Gen. Sherman is ere this effected. The fact that on the 21st Gen. Schofield was within plain hearing of Sherman's guns, shows that the advance of the army was not more than fifteen miles distant, for that is as far as guns can be distinctly heard in a country such as that which Sherman is traversing. All fear of disaster to Sherman may be dismissed in the face of this fact, viz.: That he had moved from the time he left Fayetteville on the 15th to a point near enough for Schofield to hear his guns distinctly at Goldsboro on the 21st, rendering it certain that he could not have been checked, as the rebels claim.

TO BE EXCHANGED.

Four rebel surgeons, viz.: J. P. Cain, Twenty-seventh South Carolina; T. Kennedy, Eighteenth North Carolina; B. Smith, and D. O. Harris, C. S. A., were yesterday taken from the Old Capitol to be transferred to Col. J. E. Mulford, at Fortress Monroe, for exchange.

RETURNING FROM THE FRONT.

The family of Maj.-Gen. Meade and a number of other Philadelphians, who have been visiting at the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac for several days, returned here this afternoon, on the steamer Thomas Collyer. The engagement of Saturday hurried off several other visitors to the front. All passes for any other than strictly military purposes, are now granted only at the request of Gen. Grant.

RETURN OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

The President reached City Point on Friday night, and is expected back to-morrow.

THE SENATORIAL EXCURSION.

The Senatorial excursion party, which went down the coast ten days ago, returned to the city yesterday morning. The participators report a very agreeable time, notwithstanding the blusterign winds and high seas. Charleston, Savannah and Hilton Head were visited, and the Congressional portion of the company had an excellent opportunity of witnessing the effect of the military occupation of two leading Southern cities. They discovered some genuine Union people in both places—among others, Dr. Mackay, of Charleston, an author of several well known Masonic works, and now Mayor of the city under Union occupation. Among those who accompanied the party were W. B. Dinsmore, President of the Adams' Express Company, and lady, and Major George A. Batchelder and his young bride, the daughter of Hon. Hannibal Hamlin.

AN EXCURSION TO SOUTHERN PORTS.

Another distinguished party is forming to visit the Southern ports which have recently fallen into our possession.

MOVEMENTS OF SECRETARY WELLES AND ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOX.

Secretary Welles and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Fox do not contemplate being present at the hoisting of the flag over Fort Sumter, as has been published. The latter, however, will shortly leave Washington for the South on official business.

Letter from Major Dodge.

Office A. A. Provost Marshal-General,
Superintendent Volunteer Recruiting Service,
Southern Division of New-York,
New-York, March 25, 1865.

Mr. O. Blunt, Chairman Supervisors' Committee, New-York City:—

Sir: I have the honor to request that you will inform me positively and immediately what prospect there is of your obtaining and keeping on hand sufficient funds to pay the bounty to two hundred volunteers daily. The arrangements for recruiting in the several wards had just been completed, and recruits were beginning to come in, when the whole thing is brought to a dead stop by the failure in the supply of funds.

However perfect the other arrangements for recruiting, men will not now volunteer unless they receive the bounties. If, therefore, you cannot obtain money to pay these bounties it is useless to defer the draft longer. The Government does not desire to enforce the draft anywhere. It prefers that recruits come in voluntarily. But the men must be had immediately.

For myself, I have been exceedingly anxious to see this war ended without the necessity of another resort to the wheel in New-York City. I have done all in my power. The alternative is before the people of the city. The quotas must be filled immediately; if not by volunteers, then with drafted men. I must and will have the men.

I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
RICHARD J. DODGE,
Major Twelfth United States Infantry, A. A. Provost-Marshal-General, &c.

Fire in Boston.

Boston, Sunday, March 26.

A fire broke out last night in the building Nos. 166 and 168 Commercial-street, occupied by John Gove & Co., manufacturers of oil clothing, and Pollard & Co., liquor dealers. The flames were confined to the upper portion of the building. Loss about $10,000, insured. Chief Engineer Bird, of the Fire Department, received a severe scalp wound from falling slates.

From the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

Philadelphia, Sunday, March 26.

Arrived, United States steamer Massachusetts, Lieutenant-Commander Wm. H. West, with 150 officers, discharged and invalids from the South Atlantic Squadron. On the 20th, coming out of Charleston harbor, between Forts Sumter and Moultrie, the Massachusetts struck on a torpedo, but it did not explode. It was a barrel with a cone on each end, with a brass plunger on top. There is supposed to be quite a number in the channel yet, which have not been found.

Arrival of the St. David.

Portland, Me., Sunday, March 26.

The steamship St. David, Capt. Abra, from Liverpool 9th instant, via Londonderry 11th instant, arrived at 7 o'clock this morning. Her news is anticipated. The St. David was detained fourteen hours at Londonderry by heavy gales. She reports March 17, spoke the steamship Moravian bound east in lat. 48° 50', long. 35° 13'; 20th, saw a Cunard steamer (unknown) bound east, in lat. 44°, long. 46°; 23d, saw a steamer, supposed the Belgian, bound east, in lat. 43° 30', long. 57°.

Arrivals in the City.

Senator J. W. Grimes and wife, Iowa; Senator F. A. Pike, Maine; A. Getty, Philadelphia; Gen. W. M. Babbitt, New-Jersey, and J. Whiting, Michigan, are stopping at the Astor House.

J. C. Raguet, St. Paul; Chas. Leonard, Syracuse; Hons. H. R. Low and James Mathews, Albany; L. R. Howell, Buffalo; Hon. J. S. Freer, Ellenville, and Col. J. H. Jones, Pittsburgh, are stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel.

F. C. Lowell, Boston; Wm. Barrington, Secretary of British Legation, and Capt. Burnet, England, are stopping at the Brevoort House.

G. McFarland, Troy, and H. Victor Newcomb, Louisville, are at the Hoffman House.

THE CITY QUOTA.

Men Plenty—Money Scarce—Prospect of Getting Funds—Meeting for Uniform Plan of Recruiting—Efforts to Fill the Quota—Remarks of Hon. Fernando Wood—A Popular Assessment Proposed.

Recruiting is at dead low water. There are plenty of men, and so far as that part of the business is concerned the city quota would be filled just as soon as the surgeons could examine the requisite number of men. But the money has failed, no more can be had for a day or two yet, and if the drafting is not resumed the reason will be a further indulgence by the authorities.

On Friday, the 24th, one hundred and thirty-four men in all were enlisted and paid. On Saturday about one hundred were enlisted, when funds gave out. The visit of Mr. BLUNT to Albany was not successful unless as promoting future action. The money subscribed to the State loan has not been paid, the capitalists wishing certain further legislation. This legislation cannot be had for a day or two, and meanwhile, it would seem that the riches of the great City of New-York are exhausted, for its moneyed men have refused, in this emergency, to invest in county bonds, alleging that their money is applied to the State loan. So that the bottom of our long purses is reached. All this time there is plenty of money for substitutes, paid from funds handed in by those who desire to be represented in the field by others. These substitutes, if enlisted, would count upon the city quota as volunteers. But, unreasonable as it seems, it is extremely difficult to enlist substitutes, for several reasons. Of these, perhaps one will serve as a specimen. It is, that the substitutes are often ignorant, foolish and suspicious, and when sent from the Park committee room to the district Provost-Marshal's headquarters where they must be mustered in, they take a notion that they are going to be swindled, or as they call it "beat" out of their bounty, and so they refuse to go at all, though the messenger sent with them has their $900 or $1,000 close at their side, all ready to pay on enlistment.

Meanwhile, the shadow of the draft creeps on. Two hundred men a day must be forthcoming next week, the authorities say, or else—the draft! It is for the city to say.

MEETING IN THE TWENTY-SECOND WARD.

The citizens of the Twenty-second Ward held a meeting on Saturday evening at National Hall, 44th-street, for the purpose of encouraging enlistments.

Judge CONNOLLY was elected Chairman, and read the letter of Maj. DODGE to Mayor GUNTHER. The Chairman said that the deficiency of the ward was seven hundred and fifty-five men.

Col. JOEL W. MASON made a brief address. He was followed by

Hon. FERNANDO WOOD, who said that he would give his feeble aid toward filling up the quota of the ward—a grand and good object. There was little to be said on the subject; it was a plain, practical question. It was not necessary to go into a discussion of the questions which caused the war, or whether it might have been avoided. They were to deal with things as they were. The simple consideration was, how they were to avoid the draft. The Government required 755 men from the Twenty-second Ward, and if they did not volunteer they would have to be taken by force. The speaker said the Twenty-second Ward had been dealt unjustly with in regard to the quota. Many of the citizens of the ward had been enlisted in the wealthier wards, where they were able to pay higher bounties. If the ward was credited with all the men who had enlisted, and who were liable to draft in the ward, not another man would be required from the Twenty-second Ward. He hoped the committee would express the feelings of the meeting in their resolutions, and demand that every man enlisted belonging in the ward should be credited to it. It was necessary that in addition to the bounties paid by the Government and the State, funds were required from the citizens of the ward and he believed those who were exempt, but had pecuniary means, should be required to contribute. There were men of opulence in the ward who were protected from the draft, and he regretted that none of them were present to give their countenance and sympathy to the patriotic and humane objects of the meeting. The speaker said that from his knowledge of the department at Washington, there was no disposition to enforce a draft in New-York, if the men could be obtained otherwise. One of his last acts as a member of Congress was to call upon the Secretary of War, and beseech him not to make another draft in the city of New-York, and again present the cup to the lips of the workingmen of this city. He had the assurance, from the Secretary of War, that only as a last resort would a draft be imposed on the people of New-York. The authorities of the city have done nobly. The speaker said that we want the men; he believed that those who enlisted or were drafted, would not have to serve more than three months. It was his firm conviction that in three months at the worst, there would be no large armies in the South that the armies of GRANT and SHERMAN could not defeat. We have responded liberally heretofore, and do not let us now hold back. He was no more interested than others, but he wanted to see this struggle cease, and all of us recognizing one constitution, one government, and one flag. (Applause.)

Resolutions were adopted setting forth that the citizens of the Twenty-second Ward are called upon to fill up the ranks of our victorious army, and share the honor of wiping out of existence the few remaining enemies to this land of the free; and expressing the belief that one volunteer is worth ten men dragged from their helpless families by conscription. The resolutions also provided for the appointment of an Executive and Finance Committee of fourteen each.

Hon. WM. A. DARLING and Rev. L. H. KING made short speeches, when a subscription list was opened, and at the close of the meeting about two thousand dollars were subscribed.

The committees will meet at the same place on this evening.

MEETING IN THE THIRTEENTH WARD.

An immense meeting of the people of the Thirteenth Ward, characterized for its earnestness and practical nature, was held on Saturday evening last, in the Clinton Garden, Clinton-street, between Broome and Delancey streets. The great preponderance of mechanics in this ward may well be judged by the fact, that some of the largest foundries and manufacturing establishments in the city are located within its limits, and hence the intensity of interest taken in these anti-draft meetings.

JOSEPH H. TOOKER, Esq., was called to the chair, and Hon. JAMES H. LYNCH acted as Secretary. The Chairman announced the following gentlemen as the Finance Committee for the ward, and requested them to meet for organization at the Thirteenth Precinct Station-house on Monday night. The committee is composed of two citizens from each election district: Alexander H. Stewart, John W. Griffiths, Frederick Germann, Thomas Brown, Thomas Brady, Robert Fair, James H. Cook, John F. Thall, Christopher Reynolds, Thomas Kennedy, Charles Koster, Eliphalet S. Nevins, Simeon Levy, K. Krenkle, Louis Hollander and Charles Merrill. There was also appointed an Executive Committee of five from each district, of which ANTHONY MILLER, Esq., is Chairman.

Mr. TOOKER suggested that as there are four thousand voters in the ward each one should be assessed five dollars, and thus a hand-money fund of twenty thousand dollars be secured. This suggestion met with great favor. Several gentlemen present, including Councilmen KOSTER and BRADY, and others, stated their willingness to subscribe one hundred dollars each. This was received with great cheering.

Spirited addresses were made by Hon. JOHN KERRIGAN, P. H. MCALEAN, Esq., TIMOTHY CAMPBELL, Esq., and Col. ALEXANDER STEWART, at the conclusion of which the throng dispersed.

The idea of a popular assessment, as thrown out at this meeting by its Chairman, might well be followed out in other wards, where the population is very dense and of the middling class. Some citizens, as in the cases of Councilmen KOSTER and BRADY, would willingly subscribe large sums, while others probably could not afford to give more than one dollar. Yet the average would prove sufficiently large to secure a respectable hand-money fund.

MEETING IN THE SIXTEENTH WARD.

The citizens of this ward have been working in good earnest, every night during the past week. On Saturday night there was a good attendance in the Eighth District Court-room, corner of Twenty-second-street and Seventh-avenue. Alderman RYERS presided. Mr. HENRY C. PARKE, Secretary.

Considerable enthusiasm was manifested by the audience at the encouraging reports and addresses by several prominent residents of the ward, and especially when Hon. CHARLES S. SPENCER responded, after repeated demands, by stating in pertinent remarks, that he came simply to act, and not to make a speech, and he tendered a contribution of $350, and added that if necessary he was ready to contribute $1,000, and even $2,000, rather than poor men with large families should be obliged to leave their homes. He fully believed the quota could be filled by volunteers in this district. Growing still more enthusiastic as he continued his remarks, Mr. SPENCER subscribed a thousand-dollar Treasury note, which increased his contribution to $1,350, the receipt of which was announced amidst tremendous cheers, after which a vote of thanks was tendered the generous donor in an emphatic and unanimous manner.

The residents of the Sixteenth Ward are coming forward in a very liberal manner to aid the committee in their efforts to avoid the enforcement of the draft.

Hon. HENRY J. RAYMOND was announced as having been invited, and is expected to address the meeting on Tuesday evening next, the 28th inst.

Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion.

Chloasma, or Mothpatch, (also called Liverspot,) and Lentigo or Freckles, are often very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, for the discolored spots show more plainly on the face of a blonde than of a brunette; but they greatly mar the beauty of either; and any preparation that will effectually remove them WITHOUT INJURING THE TEXTURE OR COLOR OF THE SKIN, is certainly a desideratum. Dr. B. C. PERRY, who has made diseases of the skin a specialty, has discovered a remedy for these discolorations, which is at once prompt, infallible and harmless.

OFFICIAL.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, March 21, 1865.

The following extract from a dispatch, and the accompanying inclosure, received at this Department from Mr. Charles H. Upton, the Consul of the United States at Geneva, Switzerland, concerning the tomb of a Mr. JOHN CHARLES HALSEY, of New-York, who is unknown to this Department, is published for the information of parties concerned.

EXTRACT.

No. 26. U. S. CONSULATE, Geneva, Feb. 1, 1865.

SIR: I have the honor to inclose herewith a notice which was sent to me by the directors of the Geneva Hospital, who also have charge of the Protestant Cemetery at this place. The burial sites at this cemetery cannot be had in perpetuity, and the longest lease of them is for ninety-nine years, at a cost of 1,500 francs; shortest leases for thirteen years, renewable for the same period, cost 300 francs. I visited the tomb indicated in this notice, and found it one of the neatest and most costly in the grounds. The pedestal is a square block of stone, and is surmounted by a column of marble, representing a broken shaft; upon one of the sides of the pedestal is the inscription, and upon the opposite side, set in the block, is a medallion likeness in white marble.

* * * * * * *

With high regard, your obedient servant,
(Signed) CHARLES H. UPTON.
Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

TRANSLATION.

The directors of the Geneva Hospital have the honor to inform you that the regular course of interments in the Protestant Cemetery will lead immediately upon the site occupied by the tomb of Mr. JOHN CHARLES HALSEY, of New-York, buried in 1837. The articles which are upon this tomb must therefore be removed, and the ground will be occupied for a new burial, unless the family have beforehand obtained a concession of one or more periods.

CATARRH AND ITS COMPLICATIONS,

BY
DR. S. CLESSON PRATT.
LETTER NO. VI.

Catarrhal Deafness.

That the general reader may have a more correct idea of what catarrhal deafness really is, and for the special benefit of that class of partially deaf persons, of whom almost every community has its full share, the following brief descriptive outline of the organ of hearing is respectfully submitted: That which is commonly called the ear, is technically called the Auricle. It is a cartilaginous projection from the sides of the head, of uneven surface, and designed for the collection and direction of sound. From the auricle, inward and downward, extends a tube, from an inch to an inch and a quarter in length, called the Meatus Auditorious, or Auditory Canal. This, like the Auricle, presents a curved and irregular surface; in fact, every part of this organ, both external and internal, presents one continued series of angularities—of depressions and elevations.

The entrance to the Auditory Canal, is furnished with numerous short, stiff hairs, like the eye-lashes, doubtless to prevent the ingress of insects. Interiorly it is lined with a highly sensitive membrane, beneath which is imbedded the Cerumenous glands, which secrete the cerumen or ear-wax.

The inner terminus of this canal is sealed up with a thin semi-transparent muscular membrane, called the Membrana Tympani, or drum of the ear. It relaxes and contracts to graduate the volume and intensity of sound.

Interiorly, and beyond the Drum of the ear, is the Middle Ear, a small irregular-shaped air-chamber, called the Tympanic Cavity. It is lined with mucous membrane, and opens into the upper and back part of the throat, through the Eustachian tube. Still beyond the middle ear, wedged into the petrous or hard portion of the temporal bone, is the Labyrinth, or internal ear. It presents a series of windings channeled through the temporal bone, and comprising three several parts, known as the Vestibule, Semi-circular Canals and the Cochlea, all of which channels are covered with a serous membrane which secretes a fluid between its inner surface and its bony channel, called the Perilymph. In this fluid terminates the filaments of the Auditory nerve, or nerve of hearing.

Across the middle ear or air-chamber, connecting the membrana tympani, with the membrane of the labyrinth, extend the Ossicles, a chain of four little bones, covered and attached together by membrane, and called the Maleous, Incus, Os-Obicular and Staples.

Thus employed in the function of hearing, we have the Auricle to collect the sound, the Auditory Canal to direct it, the Membrana Tympani to graduate its force and intensity, and the little Ossicles to vibrate in the air-chamber or middle ear, as they transmit it to the nerve-membrane of the bony labyrinth through which the mind listens and enjoys. In all this how beautiful, how delicate, how wonderful. How manifest the evidence of design on the part of HIM who made every normal sense for a perfect use; who "doeth all things well."

Now, let it be remembered, that the eustachian tube and tympanic cavity, like the throat and nasal passages is lined with mucous membrane, which, in a state of chronic inflammation, is what constitutes catarrhal deafness.

The accumulation of purulent matter within this tube and cavity, not only excludes the air, causing partial deafness and disagreeable noises in the head, but its presence tends, sooner or later, to disorganization and irreparable injury.

Ulceration and rupture of the membrana tympani, with discharge from the external ear; destruction of the small bones of the ear, disease of the labyrinth, with paralysis of the auditory nerve, and, in some instances, inflammation of the brain. All these are among the consequences of catarrhal deafness, or rather a catarrhal condition of the membrane lining the eustachian tube and air-chamber, or middle ear.

Persons suffering from this prevalent form of disease, are kindly invited to examine the means and facilities at our command, for its safe and effectual treatment.

Respectfully,
Dr. S. CLESSON PRATT,
Author and Practitioner of Medical Hydrokonia.

DERMATOLOGY!

DR. B. C. PERRY,
DERMATOLOGIST.
OFFICE—NO. 49 BOND-ST.,
NEW-YORK.
TREATS SUCCESSFULLY
ALL DISEASES OF THE SCALP,
LOSS OF HAIR,
AND PREMATURE BLANCHING.

Dr. Perry would say to the citizens of New-York and vicinity, that having devoted the greater portion of his life—over twenty years—to the investigation, theoretically and practically, of his specialty, the treatment of all Diseases of the Scalp, Loss of Hair and Premature Blanching; and having practiced for several years past in the principal cities of New-England, and for the last two years in this city, with the most flattering success, as his references in New-York and vicinity will attest; therefore, he confidently offers his services to all who are afflicted with any disease of the scalp that induces loss of hair or blanching; also, moth-patches, freckles and other discolorations of the head and face—his success in other cities where he has practiced, as the annexed voluntary testimonials prove, certifying not only to the general efficacy of his system of treatment, but to the many special cures he has effected, where, hitherto, the best known medical skill had failed. The list of references from Boston, Providence and other cities, are those of the best citizens of said places. They include all classes and professions—physicians, lawyers, mechanics, merchants, clergymen and professors. The standing and positions of the parties in society will satisfy the most skeptical that no man could obtain their names as an indorsement unless he really merited them. But the Doctor would call more particular attention to his references and testimonials in New-York and vicinity, showing a list of names such as is rarely or never seen in a newspaper, or on a circular, as an indorsement of anything.

Any person wishing to consult the Doctor, at his office No. 49 Bond-st., can do so free of charge. People living at a distance, and wishing for particulars, should address, (inclosing stamp.)

From the Home Journal.

Dr. B. C. Perry, Dermatologist, of No. 49 Bond-st., has received the following tribute to his talent from Rev. D. C. Van Norman, of the Van Norman Institute. Dr. Perry thinks it will be of interest to the Home Journal readers. We agree with him, and, therefore, give it space:

NEW-YORK, Dec. 30, 1862.

DR. B. C. PERRY—Dear Sir: Accept this spontaneous expression of my thanks for your marvelously successful treatment of my hair. From a state of incipient baldness, my head is now clothed with a thick and healthful growth of hair. Why this important department of therapeutics receives so little attention from the medical profession, is to me unaccountable.

The numberless deleterious nostrums advertised for the hair, furnish proof direct that baldness is an evil greatly deprecated. I say deleterious nostrums advisedly, as the result of sad experience.

Should you succeed—and I think you cannot fail—in rescuing the human head from this universal, and hitherto unopposed reign of charlatanry, you will be entitled to rank high among the benefactors of our race.

With great respect, yours, very truly,
D. C. VAN NORMAN,
No. 5 West 38th-st.

From J. M. Emerson, Publisher, office No. 83 Nassau-st.

NEW-YORK, 1864.

Dr. B. C. PERRY—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in bearing testimony to your skill in the treatment of the scalp, in my own case and in that of several members of my family. For divers difficulties with the Hair and Scalp, we have tried many remedies, and the result has been uniform failure. But your treatment has been entirely successful and satisfactory in every case. For your skill and attention we shall remember you with gratitude.

Yours truly,
J. M. EMERSON.

NEW-YORK, January, 1864.

For the benefit of any one concerned, I am gratified to state the beneficial effect of Dr. PERRY'S treatment of Disease of the Scalp, and consequent loss of Hair, in my own case. For some years my Hair had been decaying and falling out very badly; I had also during this time been sadly troubled with dandruff, in its most aggravated form, which bid fair to entirely destroy my Hair, but the use of the remedies which Dr. PERRY prescribed has caused a growth of new hair in place of that which has fallen out, restored my scalp to a vigorous, healthy condition, and entirely removed all appearance of dandruff.

My personal experience with the Doctor, and his system of treating Capillary Diseases, gives me pleasure confidentially, to recommend him as a benefactor to those having any disease of the scalp and loss of hair.

W. ARNOLD COMPTON,
At TIFFANY & Co.'s, No. 550 Broadway.

No. 86 NORTH-MOORE-ST., NEW-YORK, January, 1865.

This is to certify that my wife was afflicted with some disease of the skin, or scalp, which was causing her Hair to fall out rapidly, not only from her head but her eyebrows and lashes; she tried various remedies, but with no beneficial results, her hair still falling until she was quite bald. I then consulted Dr. B. C. Perry, of No. 49 Bond-st. He pronounced the cause of her loss of Hair to be Prostration of the Sensitive Skin—a very difficult case to manage; but he was satisfied it would yield to judicious treatment. She then placed herself in charge of Dr. Perry, the result of which has been most gratifying to herself and friends. His skillful treatment overcame a very obstinate case; her scalp is now perfectly healthy, her hair is restored to its original condition, which is to be attributed solely to the Doctor's professional skill.

JOHN L. WHITTON, Washington Market

MANHATTAN HOUSE, No. 265 BOWERY,
NEW-YORK, Jan. 20, 1864.

DR. B. C. PERRY—Dear Sir: Your success in treating me for loss of hair and disease of the scalp exceeded my anticipations, if not my hopes. When I came to consult you I was quite bald, including loss of beard and eyebrows. I think you called the disease the prostration of the sensitive skin. I placed myself under your care about the 1st of June, 1863. After being under your treatment for the space of nine or ten weeks, I am happy to say that my head is covered with a good growth of hair, and my eyebrows and beard as luxuriant as ever, which I ascribe solely to your professional skill. Gratitude demanded some acknowledgment of your success in treating my case, and I have only delayed this to put your medical skill to a test by waiting to see if the cure would be a permanent one, which, I am happy to say, has every appearance of stability.

S. V. TUNISON.

To Dr. B. C. Perry, No. 49 Bond-st., New-York.

From Rev. Spencer M. Rice, of Grace Church, Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, December, 1863.

Having had occasion to make myself acquainted with the effects of Dr. B. C. Perry's system of treating the hair, and the disorders resulting to it, I am satisfied that he thoroughly understands what he has undertaken. I have experienced much benefit from his remedies and treatment, and believe that they will generally be found of greater service to any who have occasion to try their merits.

PROPERTY OF THE COMPANY.

No. 1.—THIRTY-THREE ACRES of land in fee simple, known as the Geo. W. Tarr Farm, on Cherry Tree Run. THIRTY (30) WELLS are under lease. Royalty one-quarter oil, WHICH BELONGS TO THIS INTEREST. Fourteen acres, not leased, FOR WHICH A BONUS AND ONE-HALF OIL CAN READILY BE OBTAINED.

No. 2.—SIX leases on Dempsey Farm, Cherry Tree Run. Entire working interest in each. The company was advised March 10 that a 40-barrel well was struck just above this property, and a 150-barrel well on the next farm to it. In consequence of the striking of these wells, property cannot now be bought in their vicinity for TEN TIMES the cost of these leases to the Company.

No. 3.—One-eighth (⅛) all the oil, free interest, in lease No. 12, McFate Farm, Cherry Run. March 6, well was struck on this lease, now yielding ONE HUNDRED BARRELS.

No. 4.—Three-sevenths working interest in each of three leases on Cherry Run, near the "Good Refinery," below the Humboldt Works. A fine well has just been struck adjoining this interest.

No. 5.—One-eighth working interest in one acre, just below the Reed Wells, on Cherry Run. Well now over FIVE HUNDRED FEET DOWN. Will be tested in a few days.

No. 6.—Five-sixteenth working interest in lease B, on Smith Farm, Cherry Run. One well to be put down free of further cost, and one-sixteenth of this interest tested for one month free of expense. This lease adjoins the Mackey well. Well under contract.

No. 7.—One-fourth working interest in lease No. 29, Smith Farm, Cherry Run, (at end of the old barn, and next well to the Grocery, now the largest on the Run.) This well also to be put down free of further expense, and one-sixteenth of the interest tubed and tested one month free of cost. WELL NOW DOWN 520 FEET, WITH A VERY FINE SHOW OF OIL.

No. 8.—Three-sixteenths in the lease, and the Dalton well on Smith farm, Cherry Run. NOW A SEVENTY-FIVE BARREL WELL AND IMPROVING. Another well to go down on same lease.

No. 9.—Three-sixteenths working interest in lease No. 12, Widow McClintock farm, Oil Creek: WELL NOW PRODUCING ABOUT FIFTY BARRELS DAILY AND GAINING; it is a new well.

No. 10.—One-eighth working interest in lease No. 49, Widow McClintock Farm, Oil Creek: one well down—ABOUT TWENTY BARRELS PER DAY; another started on same lease.

No. 11.—One-half working interest in lease on Cherry Run, just above Humboldt's refinery. Size of lot 90 feet by 150 feet.

No. 12.—One-eighth working interest in one acre lease [illegible] well, on the Blood farm, Oil Creek. This and the Buffalo [illegible] WELL FLOWS SIX BARRELS PER DAY.

No. 13.—All the working interest in lease No. 2, Feather reserve, Cherry Run; contains about one acre.

No. 14.—One-eighth working interest in lease on Widow McClintock farm, Oil Creek; well just struck THIRTY BARRELS, and increasing.

No. 15.—One-eighth working interest in lease on Dan Rynd farm, Cherry-tree Run, near the Tarr farm; a choice lot—three-quarters of an acre.

No. 16.—Three-eighth working interest in the Rickett's well, on the Rickett's farm, Cherry Run, above Plamer. Lease one acre—royalty half oil.

No. 17.—ONE HUNDRED AND TEN ACRES of land in fee simple, on Holeman's Run, NEAR THE UNITED STATES PETROLEUM COMPANY'S WELL, No. 23. This lays well for oil, and is considered very valuable territory.

No. 18.—One-eighth working interest in the New-Grocery well, and lease on Smith's farm, on Cherry Run. This well is now yielding TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY BARRELS PER DAY, and it is thought by the most experienced oil men, will shortly be a 300 barrel well.

TO INVESTERS IN PETROLEUM STOCKS.

THIS COMPANY OFFERS THE FOLLOWING INDUCEMENTS, VIZ.:

1st. An ample working capital.

2d. Large properties now yielding, and its new interests being rapidly developed.

3d. Prospects of extraordinary returns from its Cherry Tree Run properties.

4th. Small capital on which to pay dividends.

5th. Property greatly increased in value since purchase.

TO CAPITALISTS AND OIL COMPANIES.

CHOICE OIL LANDS AND WELLS—A few excellent parcels, on Cherry Run, Pithole Creek, Alleghany River, Sugar Creek, French Creek, Sandy River, Cherry Tree Run, and other favorite locations in Venango and surrounding counties, may be had on the most reasonable terms, by applying to JOSEPH H. JACKSON, No. 43 Liberty-st., New-York, or to C. G. PRATT, United States Hotel, Franklin, Penn.

CHOICE OIL LANDS IN WESTERN VIRGINIA.—The subscribers offer for sale, 6,000 acres of excellent oil land, situated on the Little Kanahwa River and its tributaries, in Calhoun and Wirt Counties, West Virginia, in quantities, from one to one thousand or more acres, to suit purchasers. This is very desirable oil territory, pretty thoroughly tested by adjacent borings, and rich in oil and minerals, as well as in good timber and soil. It would form an excellent basis for several large or many small oil companies. For further information, or for the purchase of all or any part of this land, address WILSON KING, Erie, Penn., or Rev. Hon. LEVI PARSONS, Ex-Judge of the Supreme Court of California, San Francisco.

The property of the company consists of a perpetual lease of about 75,000 acres of oil territory in San Luis Obispo County, California, lying on and near the Pacific Ocean, subject to a royalty to the proprietor of only one-tenth of the oil produced, less a rateable proportion of the expenses of production when pumped.

The titles of this large tract have been approved by Judge Parsons, of San Francisco, and are already vested in the company.

The report of Prof. Silliman and others, who have personally examined the property of this company, states that it is overflowing with petroleum—

"That the Ranches are splendid estates, but their value is in their almost fabulous wealth in the best of oil."

Prof. Silliman, in his report, says:

"During the past year it has fallen to my lot to investigate the oil indications over a large area of country in California. It is difficult to give even a plain statement of the facts thus observed without seeming to be carried away with enthusiasm, or infected with a spirit of exaggeration, so vast are the areas on which the oil outcrops are found, and so unmistakable the indications which declare its presence.

"When riding all day over the most beautiful grazing and wheat lands, one finds, on a given line of strike, a constantly recurring series of oil springs and great pools of petroleum in various stages of evaporation, from thin oil to thick tar, margined with a mass of tenacious tar, in which cattle are often stalled. The impression made by such facts is far stronger than can be conveyed by words. Familiar with the early history of Oil Creek from 1854, and with the oil regions of Western Virginia and Kentucky, I found all the natural indications of these regions completely dwarfed by what is laid open to the observer on the face of the earth in California.

"Both oil and tar flow spontaneously from the springs, or exist in pools, upon the Pacific Company's estate in notable quantities."

Measures are in progress to develop immediately the property of the company.

In confirmation of the above there is appended to Prof. Silliman's report a report of Col. Williamson of the property of the company, who made a survey of the same for the United States Government in 1860.

Col. Williamson, a civil engineer of established reputation, fully sustains Prof. Silliman and others in their statements as to the immense quantities of petroleum on the lands of the Pacific Petroleum Company of New-York. He also states that this is the only property on the California coast where large and invaluable deposits of the best quality of coal exist.

Subscriptions for the stock of this company will be received at the office of the undersigned, where the reports of Prof. Silliman and Col. J. Williamson may be obtained.

OFFICIAL NOTICES.

OFFICE A. A. PROVOST-MARSHAL-GENERAL AND SUP'T VOLUNTEER RECRUITING SERVICE, SOUTHERN DIVISION OF NEW-YORK,
New-York, March 20, 1865.

THE FOLLOWING CIRCULAR IS PUBlished for the information of those concerned.
RICHARD I. DODGE, Major 12th Infantry,
A. A. P. M. General.

WAR DEPARTMENT, PROVOST-MARSHAL-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11, 1865.

CIRCULAR No. 6.—In conformity with the Proclamation of the President herewith published, all officers and employes of this Bureau are instructed to give prompt attention to the receiving and forwarding of such deserters as present themselves in accordance with its provisions.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:
A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the twenty-first section of the Act of Congress, approved on the third instant, entitled "An act to amend the several acts heretofore passed to provide for the enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes," requires "that in addition to the other lawful penalties of the crime of desertion from the military or naval service, all persons who have deserted the military or naval service, of the United States who shall not return to said service, or report themselves to a Provost-Marshal within sixty days after the Proclamation hereinafter mentioned, shall be deemed and taken to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights of citizenship and their rights to become citizens, and such deserters shall be forever incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, or of exercising any rights of citizens thereof; and all persons who shall hereafter desert the military or naval service, and all persons who, being duly enrolled, shall depart the jurisdiction of the district in which he is enrolled, or go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to avoid any draft into the military or naval service, duly ordered, shall be liable to the penalties of this section. And the President is hereby authorized and required forthwith, on the passage of this act, to issue his Proclamation setting forth the provisions of this section, in which Proclamation the President is requested to notify all deserters returning within sixty days, as aforesaid, that they shall be pardoned, on condition of returning to their regiments and companies, or to such other organizations as they may be assigned to, until they shall have served for a period of time equal to their original term of enlistment."

Now, therefore, be it known that I, ABRAHAM LINCOLN President of the United States, do issue this my Proclamation, as required by said act, ordering and requiring all deserters to return to their proper posts; and I do hereby notify them that all deserters who shall, within sixty days from the date of this Proclamation, viz.: on or before the 10th day of May, 1865, return to service, or report themselves to a Provost-Marshal, shall be pardoned, on condition that they return to their regiments and companies, or to such other organization as they may be assigned to, and serve the remainder of their original terms of enlistment, and, in addition thereto, a period equal to the time lost by desertion.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this eleventh day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand [L. S.] eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-ninth.
ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By the President: WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

The records and returns of these deserters will be made up in the same manner as is provided for in other cases by existing regulations, except that it will be noted on the book of deserters arrested, opposite the name of deserter, the fact of his having voluntarily surrendered himself in conformity with the President's Proclamation; and the number thus surrendering themselves to be separately stated on the report to this office.

The Secretary of War directs that no reward be paid for the arrest of deserters who may be arrested subsequent to the receipt of this order by the District Provost-Marshals.
JAMES B. FRY, Provost-Marshal-General.

NEW PROPERTIES, by G. Sylvester, and
NEW MACHINERY, by Henry Galvin and assistants,
A grand military and domestic drama, written by Mr. S. R. Fisk, and entitled
CORPORAL CARTOUCHE;

Mr. Stuart feels assured that this drama will find additional welcome from hundreds, as restoring to the New-York stage, which has now, for several seasons, been deprived of the artistic charms of his performances, one who is inseparably identified with many of its brightest periods and most legitimate triumphs,
MR. HENRY PLACIDE,
who will appear in the character of
CORPORAL CARTOUCHE,
A SOLDIER OF NAPOLEON.

To give perfection to the cast engagements have also been effected with MR. C. W. CLARKE,

CHICKERING & SONS

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS are Sole Agents for the celebrated Alexandre Organs for the United States.

STEINWAY & SON

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others is, that the firm is composed of five practical piano-forte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

THE WEBER PIANO-FORTE

Is admitted the best Piano-forte made, because the maker, besides being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Such is the testimony of S. B. Mills, Robert Heller, Geo. F. Bristow, Wm. Mason, C. Jerome Hopkins, Charles Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundle, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, Edward and Henry Mollenhauer, Louis Schreiber, Emil and Fred Brandeis, W. R. Bassford, Theo. Moelling, and every good musician in the United States. Warerooms No. 155 West Broadway, near Canal-st.

ESTABLISHED IN 1829.

RAVEN & BACON, Piano Manufacturers, No. 135 Grand-st., near Broadway, New-York. Our pianos have been favorably known in this market for nearly forty years, and by the constant introduction of improvements they are kept up to the age in every respect. Purchasers will do well to examine our instruments and prices before making their selections. Descriptive circulars sent by mail. Storage for Pianos.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS.—THIRTY GOLD OR SILVER MEDALS, or other first premiums, have been awarded to us within a few years for THE BEST instruments of this class. Over two hundred of the most distinguished musicians of New-York and other principal cities declare that the instruments of our make excel all others. See particulars in circulars. Salesrooms, New-York, No. 596 Broadway.
MASON BROTHERS.

THE HORACE WATERS GRAND SQUARE and upright Pianos, Melodeons, Harmoniums and Æolian Organs, wholesale and retail; to let and rent allowed if purchased. Monthly payments received for the same. Second-hand Pianos at bargains from $60 to $225. Sheet Music, a little soiled, at 1½ cent per page. Pianist in attendance to try new music. Factory and warerooms, No. 481 Broadway. Cash paid for second-hand Pianos.

AN ELEGANT 7-OCTAVE ROSEWOOD piano-forte to be sold for about half price; very rich tone; celebrated city makers, with full warrantee; has overstrung bass, round corners, rich carved legs, serpentine bottom, &c.; is a reliable and splendid piano, well worth an examination. Price $350; has box for shipping. Apply at No. 690 6th-av., (old No. 676,) near 40th-st., day or evening.

NEW PIANOS AT GREAT BARGAINS FOR CASH.—Old pianos taken in exchange; new pianos, melodeons, organs, and second-hand pianos to let, or sold in installments.
T. S. BERRY, No. 593 Broadway.

FOR SALE—A FIRST-CLASS PARLOR ORGAN, a very sweet-toned and perfect instrument, built by Henry Erben; has five stops, mahogany case, and is a beautiful piece of furniture. Apply to W. N. SEYMOUR, Yonkers, or No. 4 Chatham-square, New-York.

THE SCIENCE OF MEDICINE SHOULD stand simple, pure, majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital. So stand HELMBOLD'S GENUINE PREPARATIONS, established over 16 years.

CUMMINGS & JENNYS, MANUFACTURERS of piano-fortes, of which they now have, and offer for sale in every variety, at low prices; also several fine second-hand pianos, at prices from $50 upward, together with organs and melodeons. No. 726 Broadway, N. Y.

PIANOS, MELODEONS, HARMONIUMS.—Sole depot for Pelonbet's superior Harmoniums, wholesale and retail. Prices $150 to $600. Instruments let. J. M. PELTON, No. 841 Broadway, New-York.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS—WITH PATent improvements, the best in use; also melodeons and pianos at bargains.
G. G. SAXE, No. 32 Park-row, New-York.

KENNEDY'S EXECUTION.

Singular Conduct of the Prisoner—Confession of His Guilt—A Full and Voluntary Statement of the Great Incendiary Plot—He Dies a Death of Bravado—Scenes at the Scaffold.

ROBERT COBB KENNEDY was hanged on Friday last at Fort Lafayette. He was a Captain in the rebel army, found guilty of being a spy and of setting fire to hotels in New-York on Nov. 25, 1864, and condemned by court-martial. Full accounts of these crimes and proceedings have already appeared in the TIMES.

KENNEDY'S CONDUCT

during the week before his death was a strange mixture of bravado, recklessness, timidity, hopefulness, malignity and goodness of heart. At times he would curse and rail at the "Yanks," then would listen courteously to Chaplain BURKE, then write letters of defiance, then wind up with a request for some whisky or tobacco. On Thursday he asked Col. BURKE if the gallows had arrived, and on being answered in the negative, brightened up wonderfully, and began at once to count upon a possible pardon. With the officers of the fort he chatted gaily, always evading any attempt at serious conversation, and making no actual confession, although he occasionally dropped a word or two which implied his guilt. Toward the venerable Chaplain he was always respectful and courteous. On Thursday Mr. CLARK photographed him, so that he could send pictures to his family, and he was formally notified that further procrastination was folly, as his time was short, the President had gone from Washington, and there was no earthly probability of his reprieve. Still, the incredulous smile hung about his lip, and he said he guessed something would turn up yet in his favor. On Friday KENNEDY was busily engaged. In the morning Chief Detective YOUNG visited him for the purpose of learning the facts of the hotel burning, so far as he could, so that certain parties under arrest on suspicion need not be unjustly detained or punished. So far as MCDONALD and ALLISON were concerned, KENNEDY entirely exonerated them, but declined entering further into the matter. He, however, told Mr. YOUNG that if Gen. DIX would consent to a postponement he would confess all he knew. Mr. YOUNG promised to carry his message to the General, and left. Chaplain BURKE also called on him, but to no more purpose than at other times. As KENNEDY remarked to us, "the Parson is a devilish good fellow, and it does him good to come over and talk, but that's about all." After Dr. BURKE's visit, Mrs. MCDONALD, mother of AUGUSTUS and of "LARRY," who planned the hotel-burning scheme, called on KENNEDY to talk about her son's and his death. She produced some temporary impression on the prisoner's mind, but no more.

In a conversation with Col. BURKE and the writer, KENNEDY began to talk about his case, still harping upon the possibility of an Executive interference. Launching off into the general subject of the war, he said that he thought that the North knew nothing at all about it; that thus far the South had borne all the trials, endured all the privations, and that it was the purpose of turning the tables that these raids were undertaken. The ladies of the South, he said, have given up their luxuries and walk bare-footed over their own land, and it is about time for the women of the North to share their sufferings. In regard to the future life, he seemed somewhat changed in belief, but in no sense penitent or hopeful.

After the foregoing conversation it was suggested to KENNEDY that it would be gratifying to the officers connected with the affair, and to the court which tried him, if he should make a frank, free statement of the facts connected with the attempted burning of the city. To this, after some little skirmishing, he consented, and made the following

CONFESSION.

After my escape from Johnson's Island I went direct to Canada, where I met a number of Confederate officers. They asked me if I was willing to go on an expedition. I said "Yes, if its in the service of my country." To which they replied, "Its all right," but gave no intimation as to its nature, nor did I ask for any. I was shortly after sent to New-York, where I staid some time. There were eight of us in the party, and after we had been in the city three weeks, we were told that the object of the expedition was to retaliate upon the North for the atrocities of SHERIDAN in the Shenandoah Valley. It was originally intended to set fire to the city on the night of the Presidential election, but as the phosphorus was not prepared, it was postponed until the night of the 25th of November. Of the eight men who formed the original party, two fled to Canada, leaving but six. I was at first stopping at the Belmont House, in Fulton-street, but afterward moved into Prince-street. I set fire to or rather to Barnum's Museum, Lovejoy's Hotel, Tammany Hotel, and the New-England House. The others only set fire to the house in which each was stopping, and then cut off. Had the entire eight done as I did, we would have set fire to thirty-two houses and played a big joke on the Fire Department.

I know that I am to be hung for setting fire to Barnum's Museum, but the fact is that that affair was simply a reckless joke. I had no idea of doing it, but when we were in there, for the mere fun of the thing, I emptied a bottle of phosphorus on the floor, just to scare the people. I knew it would'nt set fire to wood, for we had tried that before, and had at one time about concluded to give it up. There was no fiendishness about it. The Museum was set on fire by merest accident, after I had been drinking, and just for the fun of a scare.

After setting fire to my four places, I walked the street all night, until near morning, when I went to the Exchange Hotel. There we all met the next morning and again at night. My friend and I had rooms there, but we sat most of the day in the office, reading the papers, while the detectives, who were thick, watched us. I expected then that I should be caught, and if caught I expected to die. Had I done so then it would have been all right, but I think now it's rather rough. I escaped to Canada, as did all the rest, and very glad I was to get safely across the bridge. I was restless, however, and wanted to rejoin my command. I started with my friend via Detroit. Just before we reached the city he received an intimation that the detectives were on the lookout for us, and giving me a signal, he jumped from the cars. I didn't notice the signal, but kept on and was arrested in the depot.

I wish to say that the killing of women and children was the last thing we thought of. We wanted to let the people of the North understand and feel that there are two sides to this war, and that they can't be rolling in wealth and comfort while we at the South are bearing all the hardships and privations. In retaliation for SHERIDAN'S atrocities in the Shenandoah we desired to destroy property, not the lives of women and children, although that would of course have followed in the train.

This was taken down by the writer in the presence of Col. BURKE, and forwarded to Gen. DIX the next morning.

After hearing it read KENNEDY said that it was

and he should sit up till morning writing letters and so on, and wanted some whisky for his faintness. As he evidently needed it, a little was given him, and he was left alone. Col. BURKE personally visited him every two hours during the night, finding him at every call wide awake, smoking furiously and desirous to talk. At five in the morning his irons were removed, and he slept soundly until seven, when he rose, dressed himself in a suit of Confederate gray, and ate a very hearty breakfast. The night's loss of sleep, the excitement, and a failing nature had done a marked work. He was nervous, and his manner quiet and subdued. We found him at nine o'clock reading the service for the dying, but he laughed when we proposed to withdraw, saying he wanted to see some one; that he was all right, and that he didn't care for the book. On the arrival of Marshal MURRAY, a package of photographs was handed to KENNEDY, and he spent half an hour in inclosing them, with locks of his hair, to his relatives and friends at the South. He was anxious to have his confession printed with nothing stricken out, so that the people of the North could see that he was "not a fiend, and did not war on women and children unless it became a matter of necessity and retaliation." He said that he owed much to the officers of the post for their kindness to him, and desired the following tribute to the detectives should be published:

FT. LAFAYETTE, March 25th, 1855.

J. S. Young:

DEAR SIR—I am much obliged by the sending of that article.

In answer to your desire to ascertain the present state of my feelings towards you and associates, I can only say I bear you no malice. You did your duty as detectives, with, perhaps, as much kindness to me as any others would under similar circumstances. Our professions have been different; what appeared right and proper to you seemed unfair and dishonorable to me; for example, the manner in which HAYES was instructed or allowed to act in order to obtain evidence against me.

Be assured I appreciate the many little acts of kindness extended by you and others to

Respectfully yours,
R. C. KENNEDY.

KENNEDY now spent some time with the rebel Gen. BEALL and Dr. BURKE, in prayer, and in sending messages and mementoes to friends. All the spectators had now arrived; the bounty-swindlers and other prisoners were stationed where they could see the scaffold, while the garrison, under command of First Lieut. JAMES A. HOPKINS, Seventeenth United States Infantry, were drawn up in a hollow square about the scaffold. The executioner, a Maine deserter, who, for his work, was pardoned his offence, was placed in the box, and the hour having arrived, the officials proceeded to the room of the condemned. The officer of the day, First Lieut. SAMUEL W. BLACK, Seventeenth United States Infantry, with a detail, stood at the door, while Col. BURKE, Marshal MURRAY and ISAACS entered. KENNEDY stood near the fire, with Gen. BEALL and the Chaplain. Starting forward he said, excitedly; "Oh, I know what you want; I am prepared for it," and passed to the further end of the room for something, when he noticed the undertaker, ISAACS, and said: "I don't know you, nor who the h—l you are." BEALL restrained him, and Marshal MURRAY told him that it was time for him to be prepared as the hour had arrived. "All right," said he, "I'm ready; I'm prepared for this thing; tie my arms;" and then, after a moment's quiet, he shouted, "This is hard for you damned Yankees to use me so. I'm a regular soldier in the Confederate army, and have been since the war." To the writer he said, "Good by, old fellow; you'll do me justice in that statement (referring to his confession,) won't you; you'll put it all in?" ISAACS having bound his arms, placed the black cap on his head, at which he started, saying, "Am I to wear this thing to the gallows?" He was told that he was, and as he was again about repeating something about the Yankees, Gen. BEALL interrupted, saying, "These gentlemen have nothing to do with that, KENNEDY," and he stopped. The procession, under charge of Lieut. BLACK, then marched to the gallows, upon the scaffold of which stood a backless chair, and near which were the reporters of some of the papers. For a moment KENNEDY sat down, smiled, and then caught hold of his black cap, the end of which tickled his face, and threw it spitefully on the board. He then stood up, while Capt. THOMAS H. FRENCH, Tenth United States Infantry, Post Adjutant, read the very long and able review of the case, recently issued recently by Gen. DIX, in General Orders No. 24. Capt. FRENCH read it distinctly and fluently, but during the ten minutes he consumed,

KENNEDY FREQUENTLY INTERRUPTED

him, saying "It's a d—d lie," and laughing loudly and offensively. At its conclusion, the chaplain read the appropriate service, and then, kneeling, offered a touching appeal in behalf of the wretched man, who refused to kneel, and seemed scarcely human in his levity, while all about him were hushed with reverence. ISAACS stepped forward, but KENNEDY, placing his back against the upright plank, said: "Colonel, I wish to make a statement. Gentlemen, this is a judicial murder. Colonel, I am ready. This is a judicial, cowardly murder. There's no occasion for the United States to treat me in this way. I say, Colonel, can't you give me a drink before I go up?"

At the signal, ISAACS again approached to adjust the knot and pull down the cap, when KENNEDY startled every one present by suddenly shouting forth the stanza:

> "Trust to luck, trust to luck,
> Stare your fate in the face,
> Sure your heart will be aisy
> If its in the right place," the final note of which yet rang in our ears when the whirl of Lieut. BLACK's blade brought down the fatal blow, and the broken-necked corpse of the incendiary swung before us.

His death was instantaneous. The body moved gently back and forth for a few moments, was cut down, encoffined and taken off, while the spectators separated, the troops returned to their quarters and the bounty-swindlers to their rooms.

KENNEDY'S ANTECEDENTS.

KENNEDY was born in Louisiana, was liberally educated, was two years at West Point, and in 1856, after leaving West Point, lived at home until the rebellion. He and his brothers then entered the Rebel army. Some or all of the brothers have been killed in battle. Robert, after several captures and releases, was retaken and sent as prisoner of war to Johnson's Island, where he made his escape and fled to Canada. He there met the Confederate agents, and was supported by their means. He was regarded as wholly useless in planning or executing matters requiring caution or delicacy of manipulation, but as the best man of the force for anything reckless, devilish or foolish. The original intention was to have burned New-York on the night of election—November 8; but, owing to the non-arrival of a chemist from Canada, who had agreed to prostitute his scientific acquirements to the basest of uses for a consideration, the plot could not be perfected by that time, and it was postponed until Friday the 25th. The parties engaged in the matter were KENNEDY, MAXWELL, WILLIAMS, CHEYNAULT, LONGMEYER, and three others, one of whom was released from Fort Lafayette on Thursday, at which time he cheerfully took the oath of allegiance.

The TIMES is under great obligations to Col. BURKE, Capts. FRENCH and WILSON, and Lieuts. HOPKINS and BLACK, of Fort Lafayette; to Capt. RIVES and BLAKE, of Gen. DIX's Staff; to Lieut. WARREN, of Fort Hamilton, and to Marshal ROBERT MURRAY, for courtesies and facilities extended to its representative in connection with this matter.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

BURNED TO DEATH.—At about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, fire was discovered in PATRICK CARR's room, on the third floor of Mrs. CATHARINE KEARNES' boarding-house, at No. 13 Monroe-street, and the servant who made the discovery, on bursting in the door, found CARR's body on the floor, horribly disfigured from burning. The bedding and furniture were consumed; but little injury, however, was done beyond this. It appears that CARR went home, on Saturday evening, smoking a cigar and somewhat under the influence of liquor, and it is presumed that his bed must have been set on fire by his cigar. He was a seaman, twenty-one years of age. An inquest was held, yesterday, by Coroner GAMBLE.

FIRE IN FIFTY-FIFTH-STREET.—Ex-Alderman McCOOL's carpenter-shop and Mr. C. W. THOMAS's dwelling adjoining, in Fifty-fifth-street, near Seventh-avenue, were destroyed, at about 8 o'clock last evening, by fire of unknown origin. The loss, which is estimated at $250 on the shop, and $1,000 on the dwelling, is covered by insurance.

LECTURES ON POLITICAL ECONOMY.—SIMON STERN, Esq., will deliver a course of four lectures on Political Economy at the large Hall of the Cooper Union, under the auspices of the Trustees. The course will be inaugurated this evening, Subject—"Labor and Machinery."

BROOKLYN NEWS.

BROOKLYN CITY MORTALITY.—The total number of deaths last week was 136, of which 19 were men, 32 women, 50 boys and 35 girls. The principal diseases were, consumption 20, convulsions 15, dropsy 9, inflammation of lungs, and scarlet fever, 8 each; disease of heart 7, croup, and inflammation of brain, 7 each; diptheria, marasmus, small-pox and apoplexy 4 each; congestion of lungs, tuberculosis, debility and inflammation of bowels, 3 each; typhoid fever, convulsions, accidental injuries and bronchitis, 2 each; remittent fever 1, &c. Under one year of age 30. Natives of United States 101, Ireland 19, Germany 10, England 5, Scotland 1.

Williamsburgh.

DEADLY ASSAULT WITH A SLUNG-SHOT.—Late on Saturday night, as Mr. PATRICK FRIER, who keeps a clothing store at No. 155 Second-street, E. D., was putting up his shutters, a man named PATRICK OSMOND approached him, and with a deadly weapon believed to be a slung-shot, so belabored him over the head that he was taken up-stairs in an almost insensible condition, where he still lies in a precarious state. It appears that the injured man some time since had some difficulty with a brother of the assailant, and it is supposed that this inhuman assault grew out of it. OSMOND was promptly arrested by Officer TRAVIS, of the Forty-eighth Precinct, and he will be taken before Justice DAILEY this morning.

BURGLARY.—The residence of Mr. W. WAGNER, No. 22 South Sixth-street, E. D., was entered Saturday morning, and robbed of silver-ware and wearing-apparel to the value of $150.

NEW-JERSEY.

THE QUOTA OF JERSEY CITY.—The citizens of Jersey City are somewhat mystified in the matter of the quota as it now stands. Mayor CLEVELAND and the Enlistment Committee claim to have secured 292 men on the quota of the 543 men up to Tuesday last, since which time sixteen more men have been obtained. Of the above number 169 men were put through at the Hoboken office, for which $125,000 was paid, and these men are among the crew of alleged bounty-jumpers secured by Col. BAKER, and at present confined at Fort Lafayette. It is not yet definitely known whether these men will be credited to the quota of Jersey City or not, but it is generally believed that they will not be allowed. On Saturday last, it was officially announced that the deficiencies in the several wards of Jersey City were as follows: First Ward, 37; Second Ward, 80; Third Ward, 43; Fourth Ward, 85; Fifth Ward, 144; Sixth Ward, 49. Total, 444. Provost-Marshal MILLS announces that the examination of the drafted men of Jersey City will commence with the First Ward on the 4th of April, and, if held to service, ten days therefrom will be granted them to furnish substitutes. If the quota is filled by April 14, the drafted men who report will be exempted, and, in like manner, all the other wards.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Saturday afternoon a lad 10 years of age, named ROBERT ALBERT, was instantly killed by falling from one of the cars of a freight train, near the depot in Jersey City, by the wheels passing over him.

INSTALLATION.—Last evening the Rev. Dr. SCUDDER was installed as pastor of the First Reformed Dutch Church in Grand-street, Jersey City. Rev. JAS. DEMOREST, Jr., Rev. B. C. TAYLOR and Rev. P. D. VAN CLEEF took part in the ceremonies.

LAW REPORTS.

Court Calendar—THIS DAY.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT.—Short causes, Nos. 1510, 1362, 1533, 1559, 1582, 1319, 1689, 1434, 1623. Part II.—Nos. 1552, 1436, 826, 706, 704, 1466, 716, 1322, 1382, 1390, 921, 1468, 1470, 1474, 1480, 1486, 1494, 1496, 1498, 1500.

COMMON PLEAS.—Short causes before the court without a jury. Part I.—Nos. 5, 6, 27, 28, 127, 128, 133, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147. Part II.—Nos. 122, 74, 75, 77, 97, 104, 108, 112, 110, 114, 117, 120, 113, 24, 135, 126.

The Superior Court has adjourned for the term.

Principal and Agent—"King Cotton" in Court—$300,000 Damages Claimed by Plaintiff.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.
Before Chief-Justice Robertson and a Jury.

Edward Mathews vs. The Chicopee Manufacturing Company.—The plaintiff brought this action to recover the sum of $300,000, which he alleges he has sustained by the action of the defendants in the sale of about eleven hundred bales of cotton. The principal ground of complaint was that the consignees of the cotton in Boston had exceeded their powers as agents for the plaintiff, and had sold the goods at a much lower price than the value in the market at the time they should have sold. The case has been on trial a number of days; on Wednesday last the plaintiff rested his case, and a motion was then made on the part of the defendants for a non-suit. The argument of this motion occupied two entire days, and was made by some of the most eminent counsel of the city, at the conclusion of which the motion was denied by the court. The defendants then proposed to give evidence on their part, but the Judge held that he had no power to extend the term into the present week. He therefore put down the cause to be commenced anew at the next term. For the plaintiff, Ex-Judge Comstock, Jas. T. Brady, and Messrs. Pierepont and Stanley; for the defendant, Messrs. Daniel Lord and E. W. Stoughton.

MONDAY, March 27—A. M.

The week past was one of extraordinary excitement in all regular business and in speculation. The markets rapidly downward in nearly all departments. Although the additional fall in Gold was not equal to the previous week, the effect of the rapid decline through the month of March, from 202½ to about 150 ℘ cent., seemed to tell seriously for the first time on Produce and General Merchandise, and on some departments of the Stock Exchange, previously held comparatively steady. As usual in panic seasons, the alarm of holders went far ahead of their immediate Money necessities, and this feeling was aggravated by fresh efforts to bear the markets, for a further fall, on speculation. The worst of the panic was felt on Thursday and part of Friday, and partially recovered from on Saturday; though confidence, after such a shock, is still feverish, and so far as prices have been made to depend on the movement of the Gold Room, opinions are, to all appearances, as unsettled, both among merchants and brokers, as after the first heavy fall below 200 for Gold. Many of the former, who distrust their chances for getting rid of their holdings of Domestic Produce and Manufactures, and of Foreign Merchandise, without further heavy sacrifices, are supposed to have hedged their position by going short of Gold. And these rumored Mercantile sales of Gold, borrowed for the purpose, or contracted for delivery ahead, added to the daily gambling operations of the Gold-Room have been made the basis of repeated rallies by the Bull speculators of the Room since the price left 170 ℘ cent. Their calculation is not so much on the assumed cheapness of Gold at 150—or that the Government, as the great buyer and consumer of supplies for the Army and Navy, and the public at large as consumers generally, will be long content to accept it as cheap—as on their ability to make it scarce, or difficult and costly for prompt delivery. These rallies have thus far proved of short vitality. In most instances they have only added to the previous losses of this class of speculators, but whether they are to have better success this week or next, it will probably be the course of prudent Merchants to "act as though they had heard further good news" from our victorious Armies, and of the close approach to Peace, and so mark down their Goods and reduce their holdings while they may, or as rapidly as circumstances will admit, while Gold is yet kept above 150. In Domestic Cotton fabrics, especially, it may be taken for granted that no sufficiently change in the value of the raw material at home or abroad will take place to authorize a recovery in Goods of Domestic make to anything like the late prices. One of the only two Dry Goods failures of the past week, and the principal one, probably, originated in a mistaken confidence on this point; while numerous other and more serious calamities to mercantile credit have, no doubt, been averted by the opposite course of submitting to the first warnings of loss and depreciation.

No doubt can reasonably be felt, so far as both Importers and Domestic Commission men are concerned, of a larger, healthier, and, in the end, more remunerative trade, after the fall in Gold, and the reopening of all the Cotton ports, and the resumption of business with the South, than under the recent state of things. Even before this consummation of peace, and through the next three or four months, a decided improvement in the consumption of Imported and Home-made Goods, is likely to follow the increased buying ability and disposition of the great body of the People from the appreciation of their Greenback currency, which they have never distrusted, even when the rise in Gold last Summer seemed to invite them to get rid of it for goods and household supplies far ahead of their immediate wants. The test of this is found in the reduced Gold value or first cost abroad, of Foreign Merchandise taken for home consumption from the New-York market. The reduction in eight months is hard on to one-half from the consumption of 1863–4, when Gold ranged 125@150 ℘ cent. This economy was voluntary—not forced. A return now to a more generous consumption will be in the same spirit. The volumne of greenbacks is the same. There will be no violent contraction, and no inflation. Peace itself will be no qualified blessing to trade, to manufactures and to the great business of transportation, upon our Railways, Canals and Shipping depend. The last-named interest will be doubled in activity and value when thus assured against piracy, and with the carrying trade of the Cotton States restored to it.

It is no part of our intention, in the foregoing remarks on the trade or mercantile phase of the question, to predict (or advise about) the probable course of the Gold Room for the next few weeks or months. So far as the Government itself is concerned, we believe the Secretary of the Treasury has neither sold to precipitate nor bought to check the decline. His purpose had no doubt been made up and his measures shaped to cheapen the expenses of the War while it yet lasts, and to make practical the way to a gradual return to the Specie basis afterward. His views on the subject were no secret, his practical banking experience well understood, and the commercial and military situation eminently favorable for the exercise of the plenary power and discretion with which Congress has clothed important department. But the decline in Gold which should have been more instant and decided after the fall of Savannah, Charleston, &c., finally anticipated his direct interference, and has been more rapid than he probably expected. It can scarcely be insisted, however, that it is now in the line of his duty to buy Gold to arrest the fall, unless he had previously sold largely to bring it about even; then the question would be one of policy rather than duty.

The stock Exchange can now fairly afford to sever its mischievous sympathies with the Gold Room, whether it is soon to return to 170 @ 175 or go down to 145 @ 140 ℘ cent. The National Stocks have already done so, notwithstanding an effort was made early last week to force them down because gold had fallen so heavily, or Greenbacks had appreciated so rapidly. This reasoning could not be seen by the public at large, who hold these stocks, nor would it have been felt so sensibly as applied to Railways and other Share values at the Exchange, but for the circumstance that certain Brokers, acting mainly for the Gold Speculation, but also holders of these Shares, in large blocks, were compelled to throw them overboard, because of severe losses in the Gold Room. After this relief, (and in one instance liquidation,) the market improved, but scarcely to the extent to authorize a further dependence upon the ups and downs in Gold as the chief regulator of values, which ought to be, (and frequently have been since the War,) independent of this speculation.

The course of the Stock Exchange for the week is thus indicated:

American Gold Coin	165⅛@147¼@155½
U. S. 6 ℘ cents, 5-20 years	108⅛@101½@105⅞
U. S. 5 ℘ cents, 10-40 years	96@89⅛@91⅞
New-York Central	105¾@85¾@89⅞
New-York and Erie	64¾@52@55⅞

Almaden Quicksilver	72@58@62⅞
Mariposa Gold	16⅛@10@11⅞
Cumberland	48⅜@32@35⅞
Reading	105⅝@91@95⅞

The Gold Room ranged higher through Saturday than on Friday, but the speculation was feverish, and the rally in the rate not very decided nor well supported. The sales ranged 157½ @153¾@155½@157¼ ℘ cent. There is little or no Export demand. The Customs demand for the week something over a million of dollars. The disbursements on Gold Interest from the Treasury Office are light, and will continue so until the payments on the May coupon of the 5-20s. These will amount at all the Treasury Offices to $17,500,000. The Shipments of Specie, of all sorts, by the day's steamers, are $147,400 and for the whole week $164,440.

The recovery in the Railways at the Stock Exchange from the panic prices of Thursday and Friday morning, was again felt at the Board, though the highest figures fell off on the breaking up of the Board. At a later hour on the Street prices were again firm and closed about as follows compared with Friday afternoon when the rally was first felt. Government Stocks steady in price through the day and in brisk demand at the close. The Evening Exchange rather better on Stocks, but 2 ℘ cent. off on Gold.

WHY INJURE THE COMPLEXION BY POWDERS AND WASHES, which choke or fill up the pores of the skin, and in a short time leave it harsh and dry? It is in the blood, and if you want smooth and soft skin, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It gives a brilliancy to the complexion.

CONSUMPTION—CONSUMPTION.—We say to persons having consumption, in whatever stage of the disease, use Dr. WISHART'S Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which is readily taken up by the blood and carried to lungs, and the healing principles of the tar act upon the inflamed sores of the lungs and stop their decay at once, and the patient's life is saved. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial has great power to dissolve the thick mucous that stops up the wind-passages of the lungs, and expels it from the system. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial purifies the blood and cleanses it of all scrofulous matter that is constantly breeding sores, internal and external. Salt rheum, blotches on the face, and all skin diseases, are especially cured by Dr. WISHART'S Pine Tree Tar Cordial. Office No. 10 North Second-street, Philadelphia. Sold at HELMBOLD'S Drug and Chemical Warehouse, No. 594 Broadway, New-York.

TO PURIFY, ENRICH THE BLOOD, AND BEAUTIFY THE complexion, use HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA. One bottle equals in strength one gallon of the Syrup or Decoction.
